Board assails referees

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Soccer officials who had charge of the Sept. 30 South-North game were assailed as incompetent at Tuesday night's Granite City Board of Education meeting.

Some parents also contributed to problems at the game, it was said at the meeting, and the possibility of in some fashion restricting fans' access to the Pehling Road playing surface is to be explored.

Suspension of North varsity players for one game was necessary due to their departure with a minute and 49 seconds remaining in the Warrior-Steel contest, the board was told.

The Illinois High School Association is reviewing the circumstances and undoubtedly would have taken disciplinary action if the school had not, it was related.

Board members were given assurance that steps will be taken to prevent fighting or other breaches of rules in future competition. It was noted that another South-North soccer pairing is "probable" this fall, in post-season tournament play.

A detailed report on the Sept. 30 incident was prepared by Joseph Fedora, administrative assistant for athletics and physical education, in cooperation with the two high schools.

Board members said they had not yet had time to review it in detail, and Superintendent B. J. Davis said it is being handled as an internal report, not available to the public.

Crowd control will be studied praised the Press-Record's Oct. 4 editorial, "North-South rivalry too strong."

A varsity coach's alleged profanity regarding an opposing player has not been verified but the topic will be pursued if witnesses are located, the board was told Tuesday night.

Treasurer Dewey Melton said he will provide the names of at least seven witnesses; they were among those who telephoned him during the past weekend, he added.

It was indicated action will be taken to avoid assignment of the Sept. 30 officials to any future Granite City soccer games.

The soccer incident was not on the board's agenda for Tuesday night, and the board appeared to be near adjournment when Melton began the discussion by citing numerous phone calls to him and other board members.

President George Moore said he had not had a chance to complete his reading of the report, and Melton said he had been able to "glance briefly" over the detailed document.

Fedora said several meetings were held to assemble the findings. He said the report outlined actions carried out thus far, and that additional steps are to be taken.

Fedora said his initial decision was to have the fight between players, occurring with one minute and 55 seconds yet to play, deleted from cable television coverage of the game.

After he and other school personnel viewed the tape Friday, they consented to inclusion of the fight and the entire tape was to be telecast Tuesday evening, he reported.

Melton said many of the calls he received complained about the allegedly inadequate quality of the referees' work in the latter stages of the game.

Fedora said the officials are assigned by the St. Louis Soccer Association. Although the local schools have advance approval rights, sometimes there are last-minute substitutes for game officials, he explained.

All of the officials must be members of the soccer association. Most reside in St. Louis and some live in Illinois, it was noted.

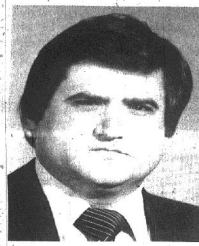

The athletic director recalled that, four or five years ago, the Granite City school system altered its use of the association, but then found it difficult to interest a sufficient number of officials in handling the games.

After a one-year experiment, the school district resumed its relationship with the St. Louis association, concluding that "we were better off" with an assured supply of officials, he told the board.

Fedora said many Chicago area high schools also have reported longtime

Cameras locate Brimberry

THOMAS BRIMBERRY

Thomas Brimberry is living a life of luxury near Phoenix, Ariz., and is living and working under a new name, according to an exclusive report broadcast by KMOX Television Tuesday night.

KMOX had film of Brimberry on the balcony of an expensive home believed to be his home in Scottsdale, Ariz.

Investigative Reporter Matt Meagher said he talked to Brimberry and Brimberry says all of the money taken from the Six & Co. investment firm, believed to total about $14 million, has been gambled away in Las Vegas.

Meagher's televised report on Brimberry included the following:

"It's been nearly a year since federal authorities discovered that $14 million had been imbezelled from the St. Louis-based Six & Co. Authorities say the company's chief operating officer agreed to tell all if he would be charged with one count of tax evasion. When the deal was made, federal authorities had no idea how big the fraud was."

"Before fleeing his Granite City mansion, Brimberry implicated friends and business associates in the fraud scheme. Indictments are expected soon in the case."

"Brimberry dropped out of sight last November and has only returned to St. Louis secretly to testify before a federal grand jury."

"For almost a year now, defense attorneys, prosecutors and friends of Tom Brimberry have been saying they have no idea where he is."

"He was found living a life of luxury in a plush suburb of Phoenix, Ariz."

ALBERT HUDZIK

Hudzik resigns post

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Editor

Albert Hudzik, 31, Madison's city comptroller since September, 1973, informed Madison City officials Monday night that he is resigning the post and will leave as soon as a suitable replacement can be named and trained.

Hudzik has accepted a position as financial projects officer at First Granite City National Bank, according to Mel Wilmshere, president of the bank.

For the past nine years, Hudzik has been the "right hand" of Mayor Mike Saayk, the mayor has said, and the comptroller has taken lower than the task of coordinating nearly all of the city's major projects during that period.

"I helped set the policy and administer most programs, but most of the ideas were the mayor's or the aldermen," Hudzik explained.

One project the comptroller says he will remember with the most pride was planning, financing and coordinating the construction of the David Conrath Alpine Village mini-mall. Saayk has heaped praise on Hudzik for his "tireless work" on the mini-mall.

The comptroller also helped coordinate the Alpine project, helping Madison businessmen plan and finance redecorating store fronts in an Alpine theme, which will compliment the mini-mall.

Financially, Hudzik's greatest impact on the city of Madison was when he put together a self-insurance program, convinced the aldermen to take the gamble of self insurance and then

Callback for 550 at ASF

The American Steel Foundries has issued a three-day callback, starting Monday, for about 550 employees.

The plant has been in an indefinite shutdown period since ceasing operations the last week of August, with the exception of some office and maintenance personnel.

William P. Donovan, works manager, said Tuesday the three-day period next week may possibly be followed by another three-day work week, beginning Oct. 25.

The plant, which manufactures freight car steel castings, has received only enough orders to insure the initial three-day period. "That's all we have right now," Donovan said.

The manager is still "optimistic in the long run," but cannot estimate when an upturn in the economy will stimulate growth in the railroad industry.

Although some workers have heard the plant will not reopen on a full-time basis until April, Donovan discounts as "strictly rumors," any specific date for a resumption of normal operations.

When the plant closed in August, operations had already been shifted to a lower level. The then abbreviated

Wilson Park Ice Rink opens Saturday

The Granite City Park District ice rink in Wilson Park will open its doors for the 10th season on Saturday. The first skating session will be from 1 to 3:30 p.m. A late session will start at 7 p.m. and continue until 9:30.

The ice rink was dedicated in 1966 and opened for its first skating session in 1967, according to David Nolan, superintendent of parks and recreation.

The schedule for Sunday skating includes a 1 to 3:30 p.m. session and a second session from 6 to 8:30 p.m. Also, a special session is scheduled for each Sunday, for adults only, from 8:30 to 11 p.m.

Weekday sessions are scheduled for Thursday and Friday nights from 7 to 9:30 and on Wednesday mornings from 9:30 to noon.

A special session is scheduled for Columbus Day, Monday, Oct. 11, from 1 to 3:30 p.m.

Skating fees for residents of the park district with a park ID card is $1.15 for adults and 65 cents for children. Non-resident fees are $1.75 for adults and $1.25 for children. Special reduced rates apply to the Wednesday morning session. The fees are 65 cents for residents and $1.25 for non-residents. Skate rental remains at 50 cents.

Special rates for groups of 20 or more are now available as are rates for rental of the skating facility. Those interested can call the ice rink manager at 877-2549 for additional information about rental and group rates.

Skaters who are residents of the park district have several fee options open to them. A family season pass is available for $40 and a new individual children's pass is now available for $15.

Now through Nov. 9, 10-ticket booklets for district residents will be available at reduced rates. A children's booklet costs $3, a savings of $3.50 over the regular price of 10 admissions, but is still an ideal gift idea for the coming holiday season, a park spokesman suggested. All booklet tickets may be used only by park district residents.

Unemployment dips

Limited callbacks at Granite City Steel Co. and the return of many students to college sent the unemployment rate for Granite City plummeting from 21.3 percent in July to 17.8 percent in preliminary August figures, according to the Illinois Bureau of Employment Security.

Velda Gerstenecker of the employment security office in Belleville warned against too much optimism, however. She said it is traditional for the unemployment rate to drop during August and remain lower during September, but substantial steel mill layoffs this year may push the September unemployment figure back up.

The primary metals industry continues to be among the most volatile industries for employment changes and Granite City's employment pattern is heavily tied to metal production and processing.

Mrs. Gerstenecker said the data for the preliminary August figures were obtained about Aug. 12, when Granite City Steel had recalled some of its workers. "Upheavals after that will be shown in the September data," she noted, saying she believes subsequent steel layoffs will be reflected in data collected the middle of September, which now is being compiled. "Overall, in the four-county area, I do expect the unemployment rate to rise for September," she summarized.

Despite the unemployment drop of three and a half percent in Granite City during August, it continues to have the highest unemployment of the four major cities in the area. Belleville follows with 15.5 percent, Alton's unemployment is at 13.8 percent and East St. Louis has 11.1 percent of the enlisted workforce listed as seeking jobs.

All, except East St. Louis, are in excess of the state average of 11.4 percent in August's preliminary figures.

Madison County's unemployment declined from 13.8 percent in July to 12.3 percent in August as the workforce (all available workers, including the unemployed) declined from 128,678 persons to 125,090. The number of persons unemployed in the county dropped from 17,464 in July to 15,344 in August, according to Mrs. Gerstenecker's preliminary figures.

Illinois will host Mississippi River Parkway Commission in '85

State Senator Sam M. Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville) has announced that the state of Illinois will host the 1985 annual convention of the Mississippi River Parkway Commission.

Sen. Vadalabene, chairman of the Illinois MRPC, has returned from a meeting of the National Parkway Commission in West Memphis, Ark., where delegates voted to hold the convention three years from now in Illinois. According to Sen. Vadalabene, this will be the first time the commission has met in Illinois since 1964.

The Great River Road organization was established in 1989 through the efforts of Albert P. Greenfelder, St. Louis engineer and community planner, with cooperation of the 10 states and two Canadian provinces bordering on the Mississippi River, and with the help of the federal government.

In addition to Illinois, the National Mississippi River Parkway Commission includes the states of Arkansas, Iowa, Mississippi, Louisiana, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Kentucky, Missouri, Tennessee and the Canadian provinces of Ontario and Manitoba.

Representative Jeffrey Mays, Quincy, is vice chairman of the Illinois Commission. Other members of the Illinois Commission are: Sen. Randy Thomas of Moline; Rep. Bruce Richmond of Murphysboro; George Carpenter of Hardin; Jim Keenher of Belleville; Andy Nickelson of Quincy and Kenneth Stobaugh of Nauvoo.

The Mississippi River Parkway annual national convention will be held in Ontario in 1985 and in Louisiana in 1984. The Illinois site for the 1985 convention will be an-

Warning cites apparent 'bills'

A California insurance corporation once again has been "blanketing" businesses in eastern Missouri and southern Illinois with what appears to be an invoice, but is actually "application" for check protection insurance, the St. Louis Better Business Bureau said last week.

"These seeming invoices (applications) request payment of $96.40 for coverage of a $15,000 forgery and check alteration insurance policy and a mechanical service contract good for a 12-month period," a BBB spokesman said.

"Complaints have been responded to by the company which states that the term 'application' does appear on the application no less than five times, in addition to such phrases as 'I hereby apply' and 'nature of the applicant's business.'"

Yet, the BBB has had indications that several companies almost inadvertently paid for the "application."

"The firm employs a mailing address of Indianapolis, Ind., but actually is headquartered in Panorama City, Calif."

On June 5, 1981, a California court entered an injunction against the company, enjoining it from sending invoices for all risk theft coverage to persons who have not unequivocally agreed to purchase it, and required the company to pay $12,500 to the state of California for attorney fees.

"Businesses should be aware of seeming invoices and check with their regular insurers and maintenance service companies before paying for something not purchased."

REPORTS WOMAN RIPS UP CLOTHING

Bobby Cannon, 191 Viola Jones Homes, Venice, signed a complaint early this week against a 27-year-old Belleville woman who allegedly came to his house and started arguing with him. She ripped up clothing items and then scratched and bit him, he told police.

The woman, a former Quad-City area resident, also pushed in a screen before leaving, Cannon said. A charge card and a driver's license, which were left behind by the woman, were given to officers. A summons alleging criminal damage to property was issued by Venice police.

Moss a semifinalist for merit scholarship

The names of about 15,000 semifinalists in the competition for 5,000 Merit Scholarships to be awarded in the spring of 1983 have been announced by National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC). These young men and women represent the top half of one percent of each state's high school senior class.

Included in the list of semifinalists is David G. Moss, son of Mr. and Mrs. David A. Moss, 10 Miami Court. More than one million students attending 18,000 U.S. secondary schools entered the competition by taking the PSAT-NMST in 1981 when most of them were juniors. Those designated as semifinalists are being honored publicly as the highest scorers in their respective state. In addition, they are being identified to colleges and universities in the hope of increasing educational opportunities for these academically able young students.

Semifinalists have completed the first step in the Merit Scholarship competition, but to be considered further, they must meet additional requirements and advance to finalist standing. Each semifinalist who becomes a finalist must be fully endorsed and recommended for scholarships by the high school principal.

Additional, more than 2,000 four-year Merit Scholarships will be underwritten by 180 colleges and universities. Only finalists who wish to attend a sponsor institution are considered for these awards, which must be used at the college or university financing them.

In April and early May, names of Merit Scholars of 1983 will be released by NMSC in three separate nationwide announcements — one for each type of award. In the 27 competitions between 1956 and 1982, more than 75,000 students have won Merit Scholarships valued at about $210 million; 18,000 of them are currently undergraduates enrolled in almost 700 of the nation's higher education institutions.

represent the finalists in each state, who are judged by the committee to have the best combination of abilities, accomplishments, and personal qualities important to success during and after college. The majority of the $1,000 awards will be underwritten by corporate and business sponsors that also finance four-year scholarships. Unrestricted grants to the Merit Program will support the remainder.

Some 3,500 renewable Merit Scholarships, worth between $1,000 and $2,000 in addition to each winner's four years of undergraduate study, will be awarded in 1983. Of these, about 1,500 will be funded by about 400 corporations, company foundations, and businesses that designate educational awards they support for children of company employees, for finalists from geographic areas the sponsor organization serves, or for students planning careers a sponsor wishes to encourage.

Additionally, more than 2,000 four-year Merit Scholarships will be underwritten by 180 colleges and universities. Only finalists who wish to attend a sponsor institution are considered for these awards, which must be used at the college or university financing them.

Gardening tasks here in October

By CHRIS DOLL
Area Garden Adviser

Fall has arrived and October is the month to enjoy the weather and the fruits of the season.

In 1982, this means beautiful apples, some nuts, and fresh fall vegetables from late gardens.

The season has been early for perennial crops, and about normal for annuals. With this in mind, here are some suggestions for gardening this month:

—Dig sweet potatoes when they have reached good size and before a killing frost. A dry soil makes digging and curing easier, so dig when soil conditions are favorable.

Keep crops such as broccoli, tomatoes, peppers, squash, beans, etc. growing until frost by killing pests as needed. Cabbage worms and beet beetles are still major pests.

—Clean up the garden as crops are harvested and add the vegetative materials to the compost pile or plow them under.

—Collect a soil sample for analysis if a new site is planned, or if nutritional problems were experienced in 1982. The results of a soil test should be returned to you within a month and soil treatments can then be made this fall.

Pumpkins and squash should be picked when mature. Handle carefully to prevent cuts and bruises.

—Grape vines should also have green foliage at this time. Dry or dead leaves should be green and healthy. If your planting appears otherwise, resolve to follow a spray program for disease control next spring.

—Raspberries should be pruned. If a new plant is desired, this can also be done in the early spring.

—Divide and plant rhubarb if a new plant is desired. This can also be done in the early spring.

—Be prepared to protect frost-sensitive crops on rainy nights. The average first freeze for WSW Illinois is October 25.

indicate low fertility, disease or insect infection. A good spray program during the summer is needed to keep the foliage healthy and give better yields of good fruit.

—Pick and store apples. The best storage is a refrigerator, but any cool storage with high relative humidity is good. Fruits may be wrapped in newspapers prior to storing in caves or buried sites, but placing in a plastic or poly bag in refrigerated storage works the best.

—Harvest nuts. They should be collected, cleaned, and dried, and then stored in a cool room. Walnuts cleaned before the hulls turn black will have better kernel color. If used for seed, the nuts may be planted in the ground this fall or else stored in moist sand or peat at cold temperatures over winter.

Watch for mouse activity in fruit plantings and storage areas. If runways or chewing is seen, treat or poison them. If poisons are used, make protected feeding stations from tin cans or other devices that are not attractive to children or pets.

—Enjoy the fall color of blueberry and blackberry foliage. Study the possibility of blueberries as a dual purpose crop in the landscape plan.

—Dig up and pot a plant of parsley, thyme, rosemary, and other herbs for indoor growing for the winter. Harvest other herbs for drying.

October is stamp collecting month

October has been designated as National Stamp Collecting Month by the U.S. Postal Service.

Postmaster Jack D. Wilkins announced today.

Centering around the theme, "Discover Stamp Collecting: The Hobby of a Lifetime," the month-long observance is being sponsored in cooperation with the Council of Philatelic Organizations (CPO).

The council's membership includes national, regional and local organizations involved in various aspects of stamp collecting.

In keeping with this theme, Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler has proclaimed the month of October as stamp collecting month in Granite City. He encourages all citizens to consider learning more about the educational and leisure-time benefits of collecting stamps.

Throughout October, post offices and local CPO organizations across the country will sponsor various activities calling attention to stamp collecting, the world's most popular hobby.

"Millions of Americans recognize that stamp collecting can increase one's knowledge of geography, biography, history and science," Postmaster Wilkins said.

"For example," he noted, "students who engage in this hobby have a good time acquiring new or used stamps, and the hobby stimulates their intellectual growth."

Any adult who introduces a youngster to the hobby of stamp collecting is giving that child a leisure avocation for a lifetime."

Nutrition key to health of the aged

By GERALDINE L. BOWER

Ph.D., Madison County Extension Adviser

For the 26 million Americans over 65 today, the role of nutrition in maintaining health has taken on greater importance and urgency.

While ten years ago there was little differentiation in nutritional information between young and old, the situation today is different.

We are much more knowledgeable about senior citizens' nutritional needs.

In a 106-page "Profile of Older Americans" following extensive nutrition research, it is reported that proper nutrition can treat some reversible dementia, (often confused with senility); can help speed recovery from illness, accidents and surgery; can increase resistance to certain diseases; and can prevent disabilities of premature aging.

Research also has revealed that older Americans should pay special attention to the foods they eat in relation to the amount of physical activity they get, the condition of their teeth, medications which can leach nutrients from the system, and chronic disease.

Sometimes, as researchers have found, elderly persons' efforts at good nutrition are thwarted by various health fallacies which they have heard and believe to be true.

More expensive "natural" foods are not necessarily more nutritious than other foods. There is no factual indication that large doses of vitamin E will delay aging. Vitamin supplements are not more effective than vitamins found in foods.

It has been found that although the digestive process and elimination improve by increasing the fiber or bulk in the diet, the increase should be gradual and in moderate amounts, and should be accompanied by plenty of water and other fluids.

Improving the quality of life by better nutrition results in healthier, more mobile and independent senior citizens.

Studies also reveal that the healthier an older person is, the more optimistic he or she feels.

Sanitary board avoiding press?

After several weeks of turmoil and trouble at the Metro-East Sanitary District's office at 1801 Madison Ave., things are going to be rather peaceful for a while. First, because the sanitary district board has moved most of the main office workers out and back to Washington Park, and second, after finally getting board members used to meeting in Granite City, the district has decided to schedule half of its meetings this month in St. Clair County.

The motives are not clear. Last week, when a Press-Record reporter objected to a proposal that the board planned to meet in executive session to discuss newspaper reports, which included fees paid to President Walter "Shang" Greathouse (a possible violation of the Illinois Open Meetings Act), the reporter was accused of trying to run the sanitary district.

A closed session is allowed to hear testimony on a complaint lodged against an employee or officer to determine its validity, but no complaint had been lodged against Board Member Russell Robinson, who was accused of aiding the newspaper and who was apparently intended to be the target of the aborted closed meeting.

We hope the move of half the meetings to Washington Park is not an attempt to discourage newspaper coverage of the meetings. Public bodies which are operating honestly and above board have nothing to fear from the news media. We are not on a crusade to discredit the sanitary district or its directors.

The good news is that, instead of the usual six to seven meetings a month, the board has scheduled only four meetings for October. It may not seem like much, but with five board members receiving $40 each per meeting, plus 25-cents per mile, each meeting costs the taxpayers of the district approximately $250.

At a time when the sanitary district is saying it cannot afford to do many of the things it wants to do, it certainly cannot afford the approximately $1,750 a month which is divided among the board members when seven meetings are scheduled.

Too many board meetings start with empty agendas and end with only one or two actions taken. If the giant Granite City School District can operate with only two board meetings a month and the local city governments, including Granite City, can get by with three meetings a month, it is difficult to see why the sanitary district needs six or seven, with a price tag of about $250 each.

We hope the cut to four meetings a month is a sign of change.

Frothy debate on beer prices

The fact that beer drinkers vastly outnumber the brewers and distributors of their favorite beverage seems to have eluded members of Congress who otherwise are adept at counting votes. Under pressure of industry lobbyists, a majority of representatives and senators have signed on as co-sponsors of a bill that would sanction price fixing in the beer business.

Having done their duty to the industry by sponsoring the bill, the lawmakers can now do their duty to consumers by putting it on the shelf and leaving it there.

The bill is called the "Malt Beverage Act" — or the Beer Monopoly Protection Act by those who look past the label to the murky contents of Congress. It would exempt brewers and distributors from anti-trust laws which otherwise might be invoked to break up territorial monopolies that prevent competition in the wholesaling of beer.

Indiana appears to be the only state with unregulated wholesaling of beer, and a recent survey showed that the price of a six-pack in Indiana is a quarter to half a dollar less than in surrounding states.

Under the monopoly system, a retailer can obtain a particular brand of beer only from a single distributor who has an exclusive right to sell it within his territory. The retailer cannot bargain with the brewer or another wholesaler for a better deal. The distributors argue that without their monopoly, there would be "chaos" in the distribution system. Another word for that chaos, of course, is competition.

If monopolies in beer distribution can be challenged under federal anti-trust laws, so much the better. There are said to be 72 million beer drinkers in America, compared to the 4,700 wholesale distributors who are trying to protect their exclusive rights in the marketplace with a bill in Congress. What the guzzlers lack, obviously, is a lobby of their own.

Please be kind to your mailman

Dog bites are hardly a laughing matter.

Last year, 5,700 letter carriers were bitten by dogs. One of those victims died, and many more suffered disfigurements and either partial or permanent disabilities.

Over the years, the Postal Service has tried to combat dog attacks by arming its carriers with dog repellent and has even experimented with scaring dogs away with pop-up umbrellas.

The service also has taken a tougher stance by interrupting mail delivery to homes where a dog is not properly restrained. Additionally, the agency has been assisting and joining its employees in actions to recover damages resulting from dog attacks.

The Postal Service and its letter carriers wouldn't have to undergo the effort or the pain if dog owners realized that one of the prime responsibilities of pet ownership is to keep the animal controlled. Keeping a pet on a leash or tether in a fenced yard or even in the family home during the normal hours of the carrier's delivery could all but eliminate the problem of dogs biting carriers.

This is such a simple solution, it's absurd that more homeowners haven't met their responsibility to both their pets and the people who deliver their mail.

Timely building gift to county

We view with mixed emotions the gift of a downtown Edwardsville building to the Madison County government.

Some officials regard it primarily as a device to transfer more offices from the County Courthouse, expand judicial use of the Courthouse, and stop holding jury trials in Granite City and East Alton.

On that point, we think such reasoning is faulty. It makes a lot of sense to hold trials at more than one location, from the standpoint of convenience and cost reduction. And Quad-City and Alton area taxpayers are the biggest providers of county governmental funds; it is logical to schedule some of the government-related activity in those communities.

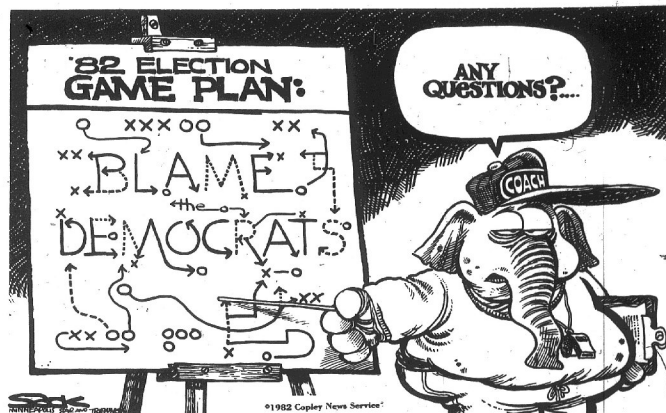

Regarding the expansion of county building space in Edwardsville, we applaud the contribution—and its elimination of the necessity to consider spending big sums on creating a new administrative building.

We have been longtime advocates of providing more "elbow room" in county offices, especially those in cramped, hazardous lower floors of the four-story County Courthouse. Some relief has been obtained there, with a number of desks and cabinets moved about this summer, but perfection has not been attained.

In view of the economic recession, high unemployment and the county's $2 million budget imbalance, the avoidance of an expensive new construction program could not be better timed.

Deep thanks are due the Cassens family and to the county officials who helped arrange for the acquisition of additional space and clerical space. The "price" was certainly right.

"Well, I hope so. I'm a Cardinals fan. My daughter sent a check (for play-off tickets), but it came back. I hope they play Milwaukee because of Ted Simmons."

Terry Riley, Granite City

"No. I'd like them to, but I don't think they will. I don't think they'll make it past the play-offs."

Steve Sonev, Granite City

"Yes. Well, I am a Cardinals fan. I think they'll win (the play-offs) in five. That's the full deal. I'll pick Milwaukee (to play the Cardinals in the World Series). I'm going to watch the game today."

Daisy Vinson, Granite City

"No way. I'm surprised they got this far. It's like when I used to bowl. We would win not because we were good, but because the other team was playing so bad. I don't think they're good enough. I wish they were. I'm all for them."

Blacks also support the local United Way

To the Editor:

I, personally, and People's Organization of Venice would like to go on record as great supporters of the Tri-Cities Area United Way.

Last week, I heard that there was rumor out that the United Way was just for white people. I don't know what is going on in other areas; I can only speak for the Tri-Cities Area, United Way.

In the past, I did not understand the United Way, until I got involved. Truly, I can say United Way helps all people, regardless of race. Being in the Civil Rights Movement in the past and a member of NAACP now, I would be the first one to fight against it if the blacks and minorities were not getting a fair part.

Truly, the way many social programs have been cut by the federal government, the United Way have saved many of these programs right here in our own neighborhoods and tri-cities.

I know that we have gave to one of these agencies. I personally have been to them myself. Such agencies include:

- 1—Madison County Urban League for Madison and Venice, 451-8518.
- 2—The Salvation Army in Granite City.
- 3—Coordinated Youth Services, Granite City.
- 4—Quad-Cities Catholic Charities.
- 5—American Red Cross, Tri-City Chapter.
- 6—Protestant Welfare Association, Inc.

7—River Bluff Girls Scout Council.

8—Cahokia Mound Boy Scouts of America.

9—Alcoholic Rehabilitation Community Home. These are some of the agencies our United Way tries to help. For more information, you can call the United Way Headquarters, 877-8788. Let us support the Tri-Cities United Way, because it is working for all of us.

Recipient of seeing eye dog urges donations

To the Editor:

I would like to thank the Pontoon Beach Lions Club and their supporters for one of the best gifts I have ever received.

These men, and all who support them, gave me the opportunity to attend the Leader Dog School for the Blind, in Rochester, Mich., for training with a leader dog. This dog has given me more independence and mobility than I have ever before had.

It has been a year since I returned home with my dog and I want the public to know about the fine work that Lions Club members do — their work to raise funds for the leader dog school, for the eye donor program and several other worthwhile causes.

On October 9, when you see these men in their bright yellow vests, ask about their programs and please give generously so that more can be done to help your community and the fight against blindness.

Writer doesn't feel the press should apologize

To the Editor:

At the last Madison City Council meeting, an alderman got up and said that the Press-Record should apologize for printing letters from citizens which were critical of the Madison city administration.

Can you believe it? A newspaper should apologize for exercising its constitutional right?

No wonder the Madison city administration is sensitive to criticism — they have been humiliated this past year. It used to be that the mayor of Madison was the most powerful politician in the county. He could carry 10 percent of the votes of Madison and he could use his influence to carry lots of votes in nearby Venice and Granite City. Candidates for public office would come to him on bent knees asking for his support.

After Mayor Saszyk's crushing defeat in the Home Rule election and in regard to his candidature in the Madison County treasurer's race, it is apparent that his power has eroded.

If Steve Maeras could see how the once powerful mayor's office has deteriorated, he would turn over in his grave.

MEMBER OF MADISON CONCERNED CITIZENS

(Editor's Note: at the last Madison City Council meeting, Alderman Thomas Gordon criticized the Press-Record for carrying Forum letters critical of the city administration without giving the city an opportunity to answer in the same issue of the paper. Mayor Mike Saszyk has frequently expressed the opinion that the city should be run only with the response of those they may criticize. The issue has been debated in newspaper circles, and at the Press-Record in recent years and our policies are constantly under review. We are interested in the feelings of our readers on this controversy and would welcome letters with suggestions.)

Democrat says his party will put people back to work here

To the Editor:

In reply to Edward Ragsdale's letter in the Letter to the Editor column: I think he is right. Congressman Melvin Price is so very ill, he can't hardly read a short speech. Then, two paragraphs later, has him "hopping all over the world on foreign junkies."

Really! How do you explain the contradiction in those two statements?

Mr. Price is older, but he still does his job for his people. I've never heard one complaint against him on this and expect I never will.

Our older people are a valuable asset to this country. Don't fault them for age. They are wise and reliable.

Also, anyone who heard President Reagan the other night should have noted he said there wasn't fewer jobs, just more people. I consider that statement an insult to my intelligence.

I hope the Republicans do turn out (to vote) and, if they are working and want to continue so, they will vote Democrat.

Then this country can get back on its feet and back to work — that is if we can survive long enough to vote Reagan out in two more years.

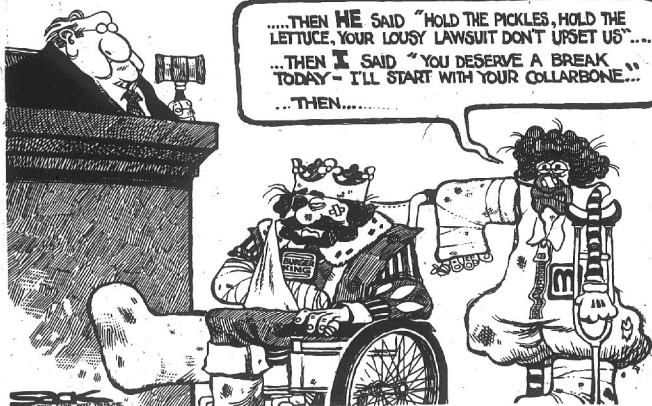

For me and mine, Mel Price will get our vote (as will) any other Democrat running for office.

I'm not a big money elephant, just a little hard working mule.

Elephants are good for show, but a mule is a hard worker.

So, if you want to survive — and work — vote Democrat.

Dog Bite Prevention Week now is underway

This is Dog Bite Prevention and Awareness Week. It has been declared here in a proclamation signed by Mayor Paul Schuler.

Schuler and Granite City Postmaster Jack D. Wilkins are asking residents keep their pets "leashed, fenced or confined" to protect both their pets and the persons who provide public and other services.

Wilkins said that 5,700 of the nation's letter carriers suffered dog bite injuries last year. The most serious injury was the death of a California letter carrier who developed blood poisoning after being bitten by a pet bulldog. The percentage of serious injuries resulting from such bites is 9.7, he said.

"Dog bites can be disastrous and that's why we're asking for cooperation from dog owners. We're hoping they will help to protect both their pets and their letter carriers," he said.

"Dog owners should keep their pets in an area away from the mailbox and the areas used by the mail carrier for access to the property," Wilkins said. "If the pet is not kept behind a secure fence, then we suggest the owner restrain the dog with a leash or keep it inside during the usual hours of the carrier's delivery," he said.

The Postal Service, to protect its carriers, has the right to refuse to deliver mail to a household with an unrestrained dog. When a dog is allowed to run loose, the entire neighborhood could be affected. The Postal Service also provides counseling to bitten carriers wishing to seek action against the dog owners.

"It doesn't have to go that far," Wilkins said. "We constantly alert our carriers to the problem, but the real solution to dog bites is for the owners to help us. It's the old story of an ounce of prevention being worth a pound of cure."

More bites occur during warm months because pets are outside more often. Pet owners can do the following to prevent dog bites — recognize their responsibility for controlling the pet; teach each family member what he can do to prevent dog bites; make a commitment to control pets by keeping them restrained or leashed away from the mailbox or the areas the mail carrier uses for access to the mailbox, or keep pets inside the house during the normal delivery hours. Realize that by helping the carrier prevent the pain and lost work time associated with dog bites, the dog owner is protecting both the carrier and the dog, Wilkins related.

Disturbance at housing complex

Following the arrest of a man in the 400 block of Kirkpatrick Homes about 8 p.m. Monday, a disturbance erupted there when Leonard E. King, 4001 Kirkpatrick Homes, who was standing near the rear door of the apartment where the arrest took place, allegedly began yelling and cursing a son of Mrs. Bernadette Marshall, also a resident of the housing complex. He also called the boy an obscene name, police were told.

Officers were called to the scene and alleged that King did not at first identify himself to them. He was booked on a state charge of disorderly conduct, and released at 12:45 a.m. Tuesday on payment of a $52 cash bond.

A few minutes later, Sherry King, 32, of 4903 Kirkpatrick Homes, reported to be the wife of Leonard King, allegedly threatened Mrs. Marshall, accusing her of calling police. Mrs. King also was arrested and charged with disorderly conduct.

King was released at 12:45 a.m. Tuesday on payment of a $52 cash bond. Mrs. King was released at 12:25 a.m. Tuesday after paying a $52 cash bond.

Offer film series on alcoholism aid

By DEBORAH WILLIAMS
Alcoholism is an illness that can affect anyone regardless of age, race, creed or social standing. One out of 10 people who use alcohol has a serious drinking problem, with four times as many people being indirectly affected.

"With all this taken into consideration, alcoholism is America's number one health problem," said Paul Smith, director of Talbot Hall (St. Elizabeth Medical Center Chemical Dependency Unit).

To help stem the rise of this nation-wide illness, the St. Elizabeth Medical Center, in cooperation with the National Council on Alcoholism, has proclaimed October as Alcoholism Awareness Month. Each week a film covering alcohol, alcohol misuse, and alcoholism is being offered free of charge to the public. The films are shown at 3 p.m. every Sunday in the President's Room of the Bonaventure's cafeteria, followed by a discussion period.

The date and subject of each film are: Oct. 10, "Sedativism"; Oct. 17, "Disease Concept"; Oct. 24, "The Enablers"; and Oct. 31, "Ill Quit Tomorrow."

Also scheduled is an informational meeting on Wednesday, Oct. 13, at 7:30 p.m. in Pascal Hall entitled, "Alcoholism - A Family Problem." Topics to be discussed will be "Violence in the Home," by Anita Lamb, head nurse at Talbot Hall; "Family Illness," by Ginny Dellamano, family program coordinator; and "Treatment," by Paul Smith.

For more information, interested persons may contact the St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Talbot Hall at 798-3069.

Plan breakfasts in Eagle Park

A public meeting to review a proposed breakfast program in Eagle Park will take place at 12 noon Saturday, Oct. 9, at the Eagle Park Volunteer Fire Station. All residents in the community are being urged to attend.

The program will start at the latter part of November under the sponsorship of the Eagle Park Action Committee and the Salmond Shelterless Center, according to Ed Salmond, committee chairman.

Funding also will be the responsibility of the two groups, he said.

The daily breakfasts will be made available to children of low income families and to senior citizens residing in Eagle Park.

A separate program, also being arranged by the Eagle Park Action Committee, involves tutoring sessions, which will be geared to high school age children from both Madison and Venice.

The tutoring series will be presented under the auspices of Raymond Mosby, Salmond said.

TIRE SLASHINGS

Four tires were slashed on three parked vehicles in a lot in the 1400 block of 19th Street early this week.

Leon Sanasarian, 50, and Michael J. Shambro, 34, Quad-Cityans caught in drug distribution "sting" arrests here this summer, have pleaded guilty to three counts each.

Each of the two men could face a fine of up to $75,000, as much as 45 years in prison and three years of special parole.

U.S. District Judge William Beatty will sentence them Nov. 12 at the federal court in Alton. Sanasarian submitted his pleas there Monday and Shambro pleaded guilty on Oct. 1.

Also entering pleas Monday were Mark Hill, 30, two counts of drug distribution, and Gary Barnhart, 23, one count.

Robert E. Lee, 33, pleaded guilty Sept. 29 to one count of drug distribution. Sentencing of those three also will take place Nov. 12 in Alton.

Hill possibly faces a sentence of 10 years in prison, a $30,000 fine and two years of special parole, while Barnhart could receive five years, a $15,000 fine and two years of special parole.

Appearing before U.S. District Judge James L. Freeman at Benton, Ill., William Scott Seago, 26, of Granite City pleaded guilty to one count of cocaine distribution. Seago's potential sentence is $25,000 plus a 15-year term and a special parole of three years. Lee could face 15 years and a $25,000 fine, authorities said.

6 plead guilty to drug distribution

U.S. Attorney Frederick J. Hess was prepared to prosecute the cases. The arrests began July 7.

Most of the more than 35 persons arrested in July for allegedly illicit drug activities are being prosecuted on state charges, but the federal charges have taken precedence for some of the defendants. No other federal cases are believed to be pending at the present time.

At the time they were arrested, Sanasarian gave his address as 1724 Spruce St. and Shambro said he lived at 4033 Gaslight Walk, Pontoon Beach.

The two were charged with delivering morphine and cocaine. Sanasarian was alleged to have sold $10,400 worth and Shambro, $8,250.

Hill, of 2716 Madison Ave., was charged with methamphetamine possession with intent to sell.

Lee, of 114 Melvin Apartments, is alleged to have attempted to distribute a large volume of cocaine. Seago, of 2229 Iowa St., it was contended, distributed $800 worth of cocaine.

Barnhart, of 2412 Grand Ave., is said to have sold $2,500 worth of methamphetamine.

John Gensert is baptized. John Anthony "Jay" Gensert was baptized at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church by the Rev. Don Markovich at the 11 a.m. Mass this week.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David (Mary Ann) Gensert, 5 Blue Spruce Court and the grandson of Mrs. Catherine Abramovich of Granite City and Mrs. Eileen Gensert of St. Louis.

Godparents were Dr. and Mrs. Tim Barbara Stout of St. Louis.

A party and buffet dinner was held after the religious ceremony at the Gensert home. Refreshments were served to 52 relatives and friends.

$3,495 ring taken; found on suspect

Fast response by Granite City police is being cited in the capture of a suspect and the recovery of a $3,495 ring from his undershorts at 12:45 p.m. Wednesday.

An officer was arriving at the scene as the man left Hudson's Jewelry store at the Belleme Village Shopping Center. Instead of going to a parked 1981 car in which two women were seated, the suspect noticed the policeman and walked toward Glik's and then into the Hinch store.

From there, he entered the medical offices of Dr. Sultan Naezi and was arrested in a restroom by a Granite City officer who saw a pad of 14 drug prescription blanks and a ring box in the suspect's shopping bag.

A toilet was broken as the man battled the officer, who slipped on the wet floor. The man fled but was halted by other officers in the shopping center parking lot near the Reese Drug store.

Eye-glasses and a watch-belt of the policeman were broken and he was treated at the doctor's office for minor injuries.

When the suspect was strip-searched at the police building, officers found a 14-karat gold ring with 14 diamonds. It matched a photograph of the ring missing from the store.

Preliminary charges against a 25-year-old Madisonian are felony retail theft, petty theft, aggravated battery and resisting arrest.

Boost in cost of school loans

It will be much costlier to finance the Granite City school district's projected $7.7 million operating debt, the Board of Education was told Tuesday night.

Revising its planned issuance of up to $2 million in tax warrants, after authorizing the transaction last week, the board on Tuesday night approved an annual interest cost of 13 percent instead of 9 1/4 percent.

Supt. B. J. Davis said the borrowing plan initially called for an interest rate of 9 percent, or 70 percent of the Continental Illinois National Bank's prime rate, whichever was greater. He said Continental was chosen as the standard because it is the largest bank in Illinois.

The new standard is 9 percent or 125 percent of the 28-year municipal general obligation bond weekly average rate in New York City. Based on the 10.4 percent average for Sept. 29, the local warrants' interest rate for the year will be 13 percent, Davis said.

Board Member David Partney initiated the discussion and School Attorney William Schooley said the new approach conforms to a little-known Illinois state law just signed by Gov. James R. Thompson.

Partney on Tuesday questioned the previous week's designation of three board members to confer with the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank on school debt financing arrangements.

Schooley said he is still researching a point raised by Partney.

President George Moore had named Partney, Monroe Worthen and Treasurer Dewey Melton to the debt financing committee. Moore ended Tuesday night's brief discussion of the committee by saying the legal opinion is being awaited.

In an unrelated matter, the board has approved an indefinite extension of its Feb. 24, 1978, agreement with the Granite City Trust and Savings Bank to set up a self-insurance reserve fund for employee health and accident care payments.

Also being extended indefinitely is a July 1, 1981, reserve fund for worker compensation benefits.

The board last week established, with the Trust Bank as the trustee, a self-insurance plan to provide paid-up life insurance for retired administrators, in the amount of $5,000 each.

The insurance will be presented upon retirement, payable at each administrator's death after retirement.

The district will deposit $10,000 now and will add more funds from time to time as required. The bank will administer and invest the account.

Emerson open house Tuesday

An open house observance will be held Tuesday, Oct. 12, at Emerson School from 7 to 8 p.m. for the parents and friends of students attending school there.

Following a tour of the classrooms, the PTA Unit will hold its first general meeting of the new school year in the gymnasium.

The PTA members will present the budget for approval and all teachers will be introduced at this time, according to the PTA president.

In other business final arrangements for a candy sale to start Tuesday will be discussed. Students will begin selling the product the following day.

Parents may register for membership in the PTA unit at a cost of $2 per person, during the session, it was noted.

Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Board assaults

dissatisfaction with the caliber of soccer officiating.

"Each year, we see a list of the officials, showing which are assigned, and instruct them" as to which are acceptable or not acceptable, he noted.

"We have taken the position that they are the officials, once they are assigned. We have not attempted to interfere with their conduct of the games, but there are annual clinics at which the St. Louis Soccer Association goes over the rules and procedures for the officials."

Responding to questioning by Melton, Fedora said crowd control and other aspects of future games will be reviewed with the officials to make sure they are aware of local sensitivity about impartiality.

Fedora said South Coach Gene Baker has suggested letting North Coach Bob Kehoe choose future officials, but that instead of this, both coaches will be a part of the approval process.

"Melton commented that, apart from the basic question of whether the fairness in officiating, many local residents perceive there is unfairness. Because of this, increased attention needs to be given so that game officials are aware they must be visibly fair, he said."

Part of the crowd's unfavorable reaction Thursday night stemmed from the fact that the officials seemed unsure of themselves and spent much time consulting with representatives of the two schools, the board was told.

These consultations were interpreted by some of those present as evidence of undue influence on the officials' decisions, the discussion brought out.

Two North players were ejected, as well as one South player, the officials conceded that the decision was not one of those actually involved in the occurrence for which ejection was ordered, but they could not decide who was at fault.

Fedora said the coach accused of profanity toward a student has denied it. Melton conceded he had not yet submitted a list of witnesses, but said he would do so.

Melton said there is public concern about the officials, for permitting so much confusion to develop, and about both head coaches, for failing to prevent the game from "getting out of hand."

North Principal Gilbert Walmsley said he was seated next to Kehoe and there was so much confusion that it was unclear to them who had halted the game prior to the end of the regulation time.

Later questioning of students and of parents showed the team's departure from the field and its journey to the contest. The ejected player also was present until realizing he would be required to leave the field, Dumont added.

Walmsley said numerous North administrative and coaching staff members were present and that none were aware of what ended the game. He quoted Kehoe as saying to him, "The game's over, I guess."

South Principal James Dumont said the South soccer team remained on the field and was prepared to complete the contest. The ejected player also was present until realizing he would be required to leave the field, Dumont added.

Board Member David Partney praised Walmsley and others for asserting control of the situation and keeping it within reasonable bounds despite the presence of a large number of adults and students on the soccer field.

Fred. Moore asked about contact with the soccer officials on the night of the game to dispel the confusion, and Walmsley said information available from the officials was "minimal, at best."

He said the officials' conduct was ethical but inept.

As the IHSAA representative at the game, he is submitting a full report to the state high school governing group, Walmsley related.

Fedora said he was in the middle of the field at the conclusion of the game and was unable to determine who had given the order to end it.

Board Member Donald Stucke said he saw no point in trying to place blame for the incident, adding, "What you hear depends on who you are talking to."

Board Member Thomas Miosky suggested a fence or other method of separating parents from the playing field, and Stucke remarked that it was not students who were contacting board members about the incident.

Miosky recalled a problem related to a South-North game "about two years ago" and commented that "I couldn't believe" the role of some of the parents in the crowd.

Walmsley stressed that failure to complete the game is viewed seriously by the IHSAA, which has the power—in the event of repeated problems—to block all Granite City participation in IHSAA events.

The one-game suspension of specific athletes was the cleanest, fastest and best way of penalizing them, he said. The suspension was not intended to lead to forfeiture of the Oct. 2 varsity game at McChesney North, the principal said.

Junior varsity players would have been used by the Steelers, with the suspended youths seated in the stands, but the host school decided this would not provide appropriate competition for its varsity team, Walmsley explained.

The suspension decision was made by Walmsley in consultation with the two assistant principals, the soccer coach, the school athletic coordinator and the district director of athletics, after reviewing IHSAA regulations, he said. Walmsley summed up by reiterating that the soccer officials in charge of the Sept. 30 game here "were confused and incompetent, and caused the problem."

Cardinal series is set back one day

After a 2 1/2-hour rain delay, National League fans were sent home when the first game of the pennant race between the Cardinals and the Atlanta Braves was cancelled.

The entire play-off series has been set back a day by the first game rescheduled in its entirety for tonight at 7:25 p.m. Rain checks from yesterday and Game One tickets will be honored at the gate.

Game Two, which had been scheduled for tonight, is set for 7:25 p.m. Friday. Tickets sold for Game Two will be honored only Friday night.

Stadium officials are warning that only persons who have the ticket stub and rain check from their tickets for Game One will be admitted to the stadium for tonight's game.

Approximately 2,200 tickets went on sale at 9:30 a.m. today for tonight's game. Large crowds were reported at several area taverns for yesterday's playoff game, the only afternoon game scheduled here. The fans, however, were disappointed as a heavy rainstorm forced the game to be halted.

Both tonight's game and the Friday night game in St. Louis will be televised on two St. Louis television channels, as will the games in Atlanta.

Rites held for Orville Pollard

Funeral services were held at 1 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 6, at Mercer Mortuary Chapel, 1416 Niedringhaus Ave., for Orville Pollard, 55, of Clearwater, Fla., a former Quad-City resident.

He died at 5:55 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 3, 1982, at Largo Medical Center in Largo, Fla.

Survivors include his widow; three daughters; a step-daughter; a stepson; his mother; one sister and three grandchildren.

Burial was in St. John Cemetery, 2901 Namekno Road.

Brimberry now lives in a sprawling split-level ranch house in a subdivision where houses are priced at more than a half-million dollars.

"Brimberry was upset that we were photographing him. He refused to discuss the specifics of the case. He did tell us he was living and working here under a new name and the house he is living in was not bought with the Sixx money."

"He said he told the government everything. He has not stashed away any of the money. He indicated that most of the money had been gambled away in Las Vegas."

"The only indication of any remorse on Brimberry's part is that his family is now living in fear, because of his dealings."

"I have made a lot of money once and I will do it again," he said. He told me the public does not know his true involvement in the scheme until after the indictments," Meagher said in the exclusive report.

Arthur Miller Jr. was sued this week for $3,500,000 alleged to have been wrongfully diverted from the now-defunct Sixx & Co. stock brokerage.

A brother-in-law of Brimberry, and brother of Brimberry's wife, Janice, Miller is accused in the lawsuit of being part of the scheme to loot Sixx. He is described as a customer of Sixx.

Jerry S. Maerz, a Madison businessman, was sued last week for $2 million allegedly obtained through Sixx transactions preceding the brokerage's November 1981 collapse.

Harry O. Moline, court-appointed trustee for the former brokerage, filed the suits at the U.S. Bankruptcy Court in St. Louis.

Moline also is suing the Insurance Company of North America, contending that it insured Sixx against losses resulting from employees' "fraudulent or dishonest" actions. The suit says proof of loss was submitted to the insurance firm Jan. 22 but no payment has been made.

It is alleged that Miller and Maerz purchased property and opened bank accounts. It is contended that Sixx records were falsified as part of a conspiracy, reflecting false security positions which enabled money to be withdrawn.

Maerz transferred the ownership of some of his property to a daughter and son-in-law a few weeks before the federal investigation of Sixx became public knowledge, he has said.

Another suit by Moline accuses Sidney Cohen & Co., outside auditors for Sixx, of being negligent in examining the brokerage's financial August change called for about 300 less workers than the previous 900-employee workforce.

About 745 other employees also are on an extended layoff from previous cutbacks.

The foundries, owned by Amsted Industries, Inc., began a series of multiple-week shutdown periods in June, when the doors were closed for several weeks. The indefinite shutdown called in August was the first in the last 20 years not to be accompanied by a return-to-work date for employees.

Employees have been asked to keep the plant's personnel office updated with their latest mailing addresses for further work notifications.

condition from 1970 through Sept. 30, 1980.

It is said that annual Sixx reports for 1976 to 1980 contained inaccurate statements, permitting the looting to continue without detection.

Sidney Cohen & Co., sued for $14 million, went out of business on June 1, 1981, with some of the employees joining the firm of Alexander Grant & Co.

The suits against Miller and Maerz are described as somewhat similar to suits filed earlier against Brimberry, senior vice-president for operations, and James J. Massa of Collinsville, a director and major stockholder.

Brimberry has told federal authorities he helped loot the brokerage of millions of dollars. No one has been charged; court records show Brimberry is prepared to plead to a tax felony.

The individual defendants are being asked to provide an accounting of the funds that were withdrawn and to turn over all assets bought with Sixx money. They deny any wrongdoing.

Another recent development as the Brimberry story moves from a dead standstill back into front page news was disclosed by today's St. Louis Globe Democrat newspaper.

The Globe quotes deposition testimony by California lawyer Ronald Stone in U.S. Bankruptcy Court in St. Louis as saying that he frequently watched Brimberry play blackjack on credit in Las Vegas and once saw Brimberry lose $250,000 in less than a half-hour at the Desert Inn casino.

Stone said he was hired by Brimberry to purchase a $400,000 house in Paradise Valley, Ariz., near Phoenix, and put it in trust for Brimberry's children. He said he received a bag containing $100,000 in cash from Brimberry, from Dick Kaydas, manager of the MGM Grand Hotel in Las Vegas, in early 1980 to purchase the home, according to the Globe.

Stone believed Brimberry's name was Thomas Miller and purchased the house in that name. Later, when he learned of Brimberry's true name, Stone suggested that the name of the trust be corrected, but Brimberry said it was not necessary, since Miller was the maiden name of his wife, Janice, according to the newspaper account of the deposition.

Occasionally, Stone said, Brimberry gave him $5,000 in $100 bills to maintain the house. Earlier this year, Brimberry sold his Cadillac for $12,500 and had that money put into the trust account, which now contains approximately $13,000, the Globe relates.

Stone said Brimberry frequently lost money while gambling, the newspaper reports. It says Stone testified that when Brimberry sat down at a table, it was just him and the dealer. A guard stood behind Brimberry to keep the curious away. That table was reserved just for Brimberry the whole time he was in Las Vegas, Stone testified.

The Globe also quotes Stone as saying that Brimberry's house near Phoenix, now occupied by Dwayne Skinner, a former Pontoon Beach village trustee and Brimberry's accountant. Skinner and his wife, Lorraine, the Pontoon Beach treasurer, disappeared at the same time as Brimberry.

Unemployment

was below Calhoun County with 15.3 percent and Jersey County with 14.3 percent, but was higher than St. Clair County (11.2 percent), Bond County (10.8), Clinton (9.5) and Monroe County (8.5).

In Granite City, the labor force declined from 26,628 in July to 26,553 in August, partially due to students' returning to school, but the number employed declined from 16,334 to 16,313. Unemployment figures for Bond County declined from 1,492 persons in July to 1,342 in August.

Statewide, 651,000 persons were shown as unemployed in the August preliminary figures, down from 702,000 the previous month. The work force declined only slightly, from 5,759,000 in July to 5,718,000 in August, the figures show.

Hudzik

administered it, saving the city approximately $150,000 per year.

Hudzik said he first proposed self insurance for Madison when the workmen's compensation insurance carrier in 1977 raised the city's premium from $15,000 to about $40,000 per year. With additional increases which could have been expected, insurance premiums to the city would have totaled approximately $150,000 to $200,000 for the periods 1979 through 1981, Hudzik estimates.

Through handling claims personally, settling them rapidly and fairly, Hudzik was able to administer the workmen's compensation program and pay out less than $20,000 for claims during that period, he says.

Subsequently, to protect the city from the risk of higher and higher judgments, Hudzik guided the city into the Illinois Municipal League Risk Management Association, a form of self insurance which protects the city against catastrophic claims.

Hudzik is a lifelong resident of Madison and attended St. Mary's Parochial School and Madison High School. He graduated in June, 1973, from the University of Illinois with a bachelor's degree in accounting and was immediately hired by the city as comptroller.

He has completed a week-long intensive course in Demonstrative Management Training at Granite City, St. Louis, since last year.

He is a member and past president of the Madison Lions Club, which he currently serves as its treasurer. He also is a past president and current member of the board of directors of the Madison-Venice Rotary Club and is a member of the Madison Business Association, representing the city government.

Hudzik, his wife, Diane, and their 18-month-old daughter, Elizabeth, reside at 1510 Fifth St., Madison. The parents are members of St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church in Madison.

The departing comptroller says he does not intend to leave Madison, or to, despite his city of his services, "I needed." "I'll always be around to help. I'm not leaving town. If, in any way, I can help the city of Madison, I will be happy to volunteer my time and knowledge," Hudzik concluded.

His resignation is expected to be acted upon at the Madison City Council meeting Oct. 12.

Reasons given for dismissal

By PAIGE ST. JOHN
Increasing dissatisfaction with the way the Madison County Housing Authority is managed, and a plan to change that, are what cost Janet Harolan her job as executive director there.

Miss Harolan said she met with Reese Hoskin, chairman of the authority board of commissioners, Friday. Four days after Hoskin told her she was being put on permanent leave of absence, Miss Harolan got some reasons why she was fired. "They've hired a management review company to come in and do a complete review of the authority," Miss Harolan said. "Sometimes when you have an outside group come in, you can make more extreme changes."

"Rather than tell me to make changes, they just decided to start with someone new," she said. "I have no bad feelings, but when they came in with no notice, and told me I was fired, I was surprised and a little hurt."

Miss Harolan said Hoskin told her not enough changes had been made in the authority's management during the two years she was executive director. "There weren't as many changes as they might have liked," he said.

"We've made some suggestions on our own, but the commissioners never acted on them," she said. "Sometimes with an outside agency, those changes will be easier to make. If the commissioners would act on those changes, then it might work."

Miss Harolan said she couldn't agree with the commissioners that it was necessary to fire her to get the changes they want. "But, it's the commissioner's opinion," she said.

Miss Harolan did not give any specifics on what changes are needed in the Housing Authority. She did say, however, a new approach to operating the authority as a business, instead of a government agency, was among them.

Criticism from the federal department of Housing and Urban Development about the money owed the authority from tenants for back rent was put into writing this year in a HUD management review. Acting Executive Director Dewey Van Dyke said he is responding to the HUD study now.

The Housing Authority also received weighty criticism from HUD for its housing policies. HUD had stated it thought the Authority's policies were discriminatory. The issue was resolved last month when the authority and HUD approved a fair housing plan.

Authority Commissioner Paul Bargiel, Madison, said it was the general consensus of the commissioners last week, when voting to oust Miss Harolan, that "HUD reviews of the authority all have been highly critical of the management. For four years it has remained critical and for four years there have been no changes.

JANET HAROLAN

Firing a surprise

"It was the feeling of the board that an independent study was necessary."

Bargiel said it was in the best interest of the authority not to keep Miss Harolan on until her contract expired Dec. 31. She will, however, continue to be paid until that time.

The management study of the authority is being conducted by Applied Research of St. Louis. Bargiel said the firm also will assist the board of commissioners in the search for a new executive director.

Challenge to some pupils' 'right to read'

Should a teacher take Hawthorne's The Scarlet Letter off her assigned reading list because some people call it "a filthy book?"

Should a school librarian take Harper Lee's To Kill a Mockingbird out of general circulation because it mentions rape?

These are two books appearing on a list of censored materials, compiled by the National Council of Teachers of English.

During the last two years, book censorship battles have escalated in the U.S.

And the war continues to be waged by those concerned about the obscenity and non-traditional views allegedly found in some books, versus those who fight for the rights of students to read a wide variety of materials, says an article in the October issue of PTA Today, the National PTA's magazine.

According to Judith Krug, director of the Office for Intellectual Freedom at the American Library Association (ALA), "It is the right of parents and only parents to guide their children — and only their children — in appropriate reading materials."

She cites this as a position of the ALA when people ask that a book be taken out of circulation.

"Every time a book is removed, the rights of another parent and of students are violated," she believes.

Students' rights particularly are ignored, according to the article. Part of the purpose of education is to teach students how to think, not just what to think, and to expose them to a wide range of materials, viewpoints and cultures, it is contended.

By limiting what students read, censorship hinders them from becoming critical-thinking and adaptable people, the ALA asserts.

"Censorship is not the answer for parents who find they disapprove of values espoused in a certain book," it is argued. The article, instead, offers the following advice to parents concerned about what their children read.

—Be aware of what your children read.

—Read all of what you might consider an objectionable book, before deciding that it is indeed objectionable.

—Ask yourself if your children will really be harmed by what they read, or are you over-protecting them.

—If, after due consideration, you still do not want the child to read a particular book, explain your reasoning to your child.

—If the objectionable book is assigned reading, request an alternate book for your child.

—Remember that while you have the right to limit your child's reading, you do have the right to limit others' rights by demanding that a particular book be removed from a reading list or library.

—If you believe in the freedom to read, offer to assist your school and library in the selection process and in the community education program.

"If schools and libraries involve the community in the book selection process and in the selection of complaint procedures and censorship threats, censorship complaints undoubtedly will decrease," says the article, "and students will continue to read The Scarlet Letter and To Kill a Mockingbird."

Grant to remodel home for disabled military veteran

The Veterans Administration is reminding certain Illinois disabled veterans of military service that they may be entitled to a grant from the VA for a home especially adapted to their needs.

Grady Horton, director of the VA regional office in Chicago, said veterans who may be eligible for the grant of up to $32,500 must be entitled to compensation for a permanent and total service-connected disability.

The VA grant may not be more than half the cost of building, buying or remodeling a home.

Eligible veterans with available loan guaranty entitlement may also obtain a guaranteed loan from the VA to supplement the grant to acquire a specially adapted home.

All VA regional offices have detailed about the specially adapted home grant. Toll free numbers for information from the Chicago office include: for the Madison-St. Clair counties area, 274-5444.

Deadline nearing for study abroad applications

Tuesday is the deadline for students at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville to apply for graduate study abroad during the 1983-84 academic year under the Fulbright Program.

Deadline for applications on the campus is Oct. 12, according to Floyd Coleman, assistant dean of the Graduate School.

Approximately 500 awards are available for study in 50 countries, Coleman said. Most of the grants offered provide round-trip transportation, tuition and maintenance for an academic year. A few provide international travel only or a stipend intended as a partial grant-in-aid.

Coleman said applicants must be citizens of this country and should hold a bachelor's degree or its equivalent. They should also be proficient in the language of the host country. Except for specific awards, candidates may not hold Ph.D.s at the time of application.

Students are not eligible for grants to a country where they have worked or conducting research for six months or more during the 1982-83 academic year.

Creative and performing artists are not required to have bachelor's degrees, Coleman said, but they must have four years of professional study or equivalent experience.

Social work applicants must have at least two years of professional experience after the master of social work degree, and candidates in medicine must have an M.D. degree at the time of application.

Additional information is available in the SUE Office of the Graduate School, located in Room 202 of the John S. Rendleman Building.

Most businessmen predict economic upturn within a year

Seventy-five percent of business executives in companies with 25 dollars to 300 million dollars in sales predict an upturn in business for their companies in the next 12 months.

These are among the findings of the Center for Middle Market Economic Poll conducted in 11 mid-America states by Center Bancorporation, of St. Louis.

These findings contrast with more pessimistic expectations of corporate executives of larger Fortune 500 companies who, according to recent polls, have grave doubts about any upturn in the near future.

Clarence C. Barksdale, chairman of Center Bancorporation, said that the holding company chose to survey middle market companies in lieu of large corporation executives. "Middle market companies have been recognized as a new and important emerging growth segment in America," he said. "We believe that they provide a good barometer of business conditions for the greater majority of companies in America and are, in fact, on the leading edge of a revitalized economy."

Despite the fact that 40 percent of those surveyed said that last year's business recession has had a great effect on their business, the majority were optimistic because of changes they see in the next 12 months: an inflation rate below 10 percent, a decrease in unemployment, and a general feeling that the recession has bottomed-out. Middle market businessmen agree by 78 percent with their large counterparts that the American economy will improve only if inflation drops. However, they express confidence that such a change will occur. Eighty-five percent expect that the rate of inflation will be below 10 percent at this time next year, "as a result of President Reagan's economic program."

Center vice president and chief economist Rachel Halbach said that the sentiments of middle market businessmen contrast with the apparent concerns of some members of Congress, who have urged the Federal Reserve to concentrate its efforts on reducing interest rates.

"While they are certainly aware of the impact of high interest rates on their profits, these middle market executives appear to recognize the crucial importance of controlling inflation to achieve a sound recovery. Proposed legislation, which would require the Federal Reserve to accelerate money growth in an attempt to lower interest rates, would be self-defeating. The increased inflation which would result would be anticipated in higher interest rates," she said.

Seventy-three percent of business executives surveyed predict that unemployment will be reduced as a result of the president's economic programs; 82 percent feel that business bankruptcies would not be increasing a year from now, also as a result of the President's economic programs.

The group was split when asked if high unemployment is necessary to help reduce inflation, but more than three-fourths of those surveyed said that tax cuts will help economic recovery. The Center Poll was conducted just prior to Congress' passage of the President's new tax bill.

A plurality of these businessmen are tying their hopes on changes in the national marketplace, but a significant percentage cite other criteria as important to any upturn.

Forty-five percent said that the condition of the national economy was the most important factor influencing their outlook for the future, while 21 percent indicated that factors affecting their local economy were most important and 29 percent cited developments in their industry as having the most impact on their outlook.

While these businessmen tend to be optimistic about the foreseeable future, they doubt that the Reagan Administration has been entirely realistic concerning the course the economy will take.

Less than half of those surveyed said the Reagan Administration's outlook on the economy has been realistic. This compares to 61 percent who believe the administration has been optimistic in its outlook.

Forty-eight percent of those surveyed said that they had more faith in Wall Street's predictions about the economy than they had in predictions made by economists in the Reagan Administration. A mere 12 percent said that they confidently followed the Administration's economic advice, while 36 percent expressed faith in neither.

Questioned as to their source for economic information, 73 percent indicated that they frequently or occasionally used general press coverage of economic events as the basis of their opinions on economic events. This compares to 59 percent who indicated that their opinions were based on press editorial page commentary and analysis.

A total of 312 businessmen in Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Missouri, Ohio, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Texas were surveyed by telephone during mid-August 1982.

Amendment could expand power to deny bail request

A blue ballot in the Nov. 2 election would amend the Illinois constitution to permit denial of release on bail to persons accused of offenses for which imprisonment could be ordered.

Prompts of the bill amendment say: "It would help ensure that persons charged with serious crimes do not avoid prosecution."

"It would be an important step in protecting the public against dangerous persons who otherwise would be out on bail."

"In recognizing society's need for protection and justice, it would not infringe on the accused's presumption of innocence."

"It is the product of careful analysis and long hours of study."

Opponents of the proposal assert: "It would erode the presumption of innocence which Illinois laws accord to all defendants."

"It would use criteria irrelevant to a proper decision regarding bail."

"It would not have any significant effect on serious crimes."

There are more effective means of curbing crimes committed by persons on bail. Section 9 of Article I, on bail and habeas corpus, currently states: "All persons shall be bailable by sufficient sureties, except for capital offenses where the proof is evident or the presumption great. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended except in cases of rebellion or invasion, when the public safety may require it."

Under the proposed amendment, it would read: "All persons shall be bailable by sufficient sureties, except for capital offenses and offenses for which a sentence of life imprisonment may be imposed as a consequence of conviction where the proof is evident or the presumption great. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended except in cases of rebellion or invasion when the public safety may require it."

If approved by voters Nov. 2, this amendment to the Illinois Constitution will take effect the next day following proclamation of the result of the vote.

Secretary of State Jim Edgar comments, "The proposed amendment deals with the category of persons who may be denied bail under the Illinois Constitution."

"The present constitutional provision permits denial of bail only to persons charged with offenses punishable by death where the proof is evident or the presumption is great."

"If the people of Illinois adopt this proposed amendment, persons charged with offenses for which a sentence of life imprisonment may be imposed may also be denied bail where the proof is evident or the presumption is great."

Jones opposes county's 3 tax rate proposals

Madison County voters are being urged to vote "No" on Nov. 2 on three countywide tax proposals. The opposition is by Mel Jones, Taxpayers Party candidate for lieutenant governor and a resident of Collinsville.

Jones said, "In these difficult economic times, the private sector has to learn to tighten its belt or it will not survive."

"It's time the public sector at all levels of government also learns a lesson. We need to all think and ponder the words of the 1976 Nobel laureate for economics, Milton Friedman, when he said:

"I am in favor of cutting taxes at any time under any pretenses for any reason in almost any way. The only way we are really to discipline government, and keep government from growing, is by keeping down the amount of money they get from taxes. There is no other way to do it."

Jones continued, "Your elected County Board wants you to vote to create a tax of .05 percent to maintain the Madison County Nursing Home."

"They want to be authorized to levy and collect a tax not to exceed .025 percent to maintain the Madison County Shelter Care Home, and they want to increase the county highway tax rate from .10 percent to .125 percent. I oppose all three of these tax increase proposals."

Form mastectomy club

The emotional strain after a woman has had a mastectomy (surgical removal of a breast) is sometimes difficult for her and her family to handle. Doctors and other specialists in this field feel that being able to discuss one's problems with other people who have gone through this same experience is a necessary aid on the road to recovery.

The Mastectomy Club is just such a group, understanding the needs and feelings of a person who has had a mastectomy. Providing educational programs, self-help opportunities and social experiences, the Mastectomy Club will meet the second Monday of each month at 7:30 p.m. in the President's Room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 2100 Madison Ave.

The club is open, free of charge, to post-mastectomy women, their spouses or partners and other relatives who might want to attend.

The first two meetings have been scheduled for Oct. 11, with Dr. W. J. Popovic giving a presentation on cancer, and on Nov. 8, with a program by the American Cancer Society on breast self-examination.

For more information, interested persons may contact Sister Mary Louise Moser or the Social Work Department at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 798-3377.

Romans 8:37 . . . "Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through Him that loved us."

How amazing it is to discover the power of the words we speak. The Bible says that the life we lead is in the power of the tongue. And again, that we are saved by the words of our mouth. It seems that if we control our words then we control our lives.

For an example of the difference words can make, consider our Scripture selection today. Instead of saying, "I am as good as dead," say, "I'm more than that." After all, your opinion of yourself is the only one that really matters! If you say it, you can be it.

The promises of God for his people are strength and health to them. Both spiritually and physically. So, about yourself what God has said about you. And take control of your life.

Today,

Allege phone harassment

Paula J. Penrod, 25, and Gregory J. "Pee Wee" Penrod, 29, both of 2183 Orville Ave., were arrested last week at the Farm Fresh Store, Pontoon and Johnson roads, on warrants charging each with three counts of harassment by telephone. An off-duty officer initially was talking to Penrod inside the store when Mrs. Penrod walked up and both were arrested by a uniformed officer.

During the booking procedure, it was alleged, Penrod refused to cooperate, became combative and necessary force was used to place him in a cell.

The charges stemmed from incidents reported Sept. 22, when the Penrods allegedly made a series of threatening phone calls to three Granite City residents. Several calls allegedly threatened the victims' children.

In an appearance before Associate Judge Thomas Hildebrand at Granite City police headquarters, both Penrods pleaded innocent to the charges.

A mittimus was issued and they were transferred to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

Alleges man resists arrest

Lyle D. Banes, 42, of 48 Lockhaven Drive, was arrested at his home during the weekend after he allegedly created a disturbance and frightened his family, which called police.

While at the residence, officers said Banes became offensive and allegedly grabbed a teenage girl by the hair, jerking her around. An officer tried to stop the incident. Banes allegedly seized the officer's shirt and a scuffle ensued. A minimum amount of force was needed to subdue him, the report said.

Banes was charged with battery and resisting a peace officer. He was released on payment of a $204 cash bond.

Community blood drive Oct. 12

The Tri-City Chapter of the American Red Cross will sponsor a community blood drive on Tuesday, Oct. 12, according to the director, Mrs. Gwen O'Guin. The drive will be in the chapter's new headquarters at 2100 Edison Ave., formerly St. Joseph School.

The drive, from 2 to 7 p.m., is in conjunction with the 1982 United Way campaign. Organizers hope that citizens will take the time to give blood and see a United Way agency in action.

"Due to the time limitations of this first-ever blood drive at our new facilities," Mrs. O'Guin said, "we would like for those interested in giving to call us for scheduling."

Donors should call 452-7184 to get their names on the schedule, but it is stressed that anyone willing to give blood will be accepted without prior scheduling.

"There is a definite need for donors in Granite City," Pat Moxley, a regional blood services consultant, said. She referred to the 2,300-pint yearly goal for the Granite City area, of which less than half that amount is normally collected.

The goal for this blood drive is 80 to 90 units, organizers said.

More than 140 hospitals are supplied with blood from the Missouri-Illinois Red Cross Blood Services. To maintain an adequate supply at these hospitals, 750 pints of blood are required each day.

Blood can only be stored for 35 days, which prevents stockpiling against shortages, but, in reality, there is rarely enough to exceed the demands of the hospitals.

"It only takes a few minutes to give blood," Mrs. O'Guin said. "The whole process takes less than 45 minutes with the actual donation taking only five to 10 minutes."

After a donor registers, volunteers check his temperature, blood pressure, pulse and take a short health history. This is to protect the health of both the donors and recipients.

All donors are required to stay for about 15 minutes after giving blood as a precautionary measure. Refreshments are served during this time, which begin replenishing the loss.

"Less than a pint is taken," Mrs. O'Guin said, "and since the average person has 10 to 12 pints, the small loss is quickly replenished."

Healthy persons 17 and older may give blood. Potential donors 66 years of age and older need recent health statements from their doctors to donate blood.

Arrest girl, 15, for motel damage

A 15-year-old Wood River girl was arrested and charged with criminal damage to property, following an incident at the Illinois Motel, 1100 Niedringhaus Ave., last week. Windows were broken and lamps, a telephone and a night stand also sustained damage.

Police were called to the motel in response to a report of what appeared to be a fight in a motel room, with two men and a woman reportedly seen running from the room.

A Granite City woman walking in an alley nearby was questioned, but denied knowing anything of a fight. The same woman and two men were picked up a few moments later in an auto at 16th Street and Cleveland Boulevard and returned to the motel where one of the men and the woman allegedly admitted knowing the 15-year-old, a former girlfriend of one of the men who apparently had been occupying the room. The driver of the vehicle was released.

The girl, who reportedly is married, allegedly told police of meeting her former boyfriend and having a fight. It was after he left that the damage reportedly occurred.

The second woman and the man were released without being charged.

CHOOSING CLASSES. Registering for classes at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is Tom Greco of Granite City. Fall quarter classes began Sept. 27. Greco is a senior majoring in physical education.

Release funds to equip Multi-Purpose Building

Approval of spending for the completion of the new Multi-Purpose Facility on the Edwardsville campus of Southern Illinois University was announced Friday by Governor James R. Thompson.

The governor released $788,900 in Capital Development Bond Funds for the purchase of equipment for the building. The authorization means that use of the facility can begin with the scheduled completion of construction in March, 1983.

"In order to have this important addition to Edwardsville campus facilities operational as soon as possible, I have approved funds requested by the Capital Development Board for substantial project completion," Thompson said.

The governor withheld approval of the remaining funds involving landscaping.

Equipment for the building, which contains 147,000 square feet, entails a variety of moveable and durable items needed for operation and maintenance of offices, classrooms, athletic facilities and related areas.

Construction of the Multi-Purpose Facility began in May, 1981. The project's estimated total cost is $12.7 million.

COMPLETES COURSE

Schaefer will now serve at Blytheville Air Force Base, Ark., with the 97th Avionics Maintenance Squadron.

Accident ends in DUI arrest

Noel Reed, 55, of 2120 Missouri Ave., was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and driving while his license was revoked, following an accident at 21st and Adams streets.

Reed's auto allegedly made a U-turn on Adams at 21st and struck a motorcycle, owned by Elvis N. Sweeney, 4787 Redwood Lane, which was parked on the west side of Adams. The impact knocked the cycle to the ground, damaging the machine.

Initially, Reed agreed to take a breathalyzer test and an Illinois State Police trooper was called to administer the test, the report said. At police headquarters, however, Reed became argumentative and uncooperative, complained of having medical problems and declined to take the breath test.

His wife was contacted for medication and he was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Medical Center. In the emergency room, Reed allegedly refused to cooperate and was restrained by hospital security personnel. He refused treatment and was returned to jail.

Reed pleaded innocent to the charges in an appearance before Associate Judge Thomas Hildebrand at Granite City police headquarters. A mittimus was issued and he was taken to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

Start new state prison at Vienna

Officials broke ground during the weekend for a new $33 million, 750-bed medium security prison in Vienna.

The prison, which will employ about 200 people in 15 building trades during construction, will have 425 workers when the facility opens in early 1985. Nearly $10 million in salaries will be added to the Vienna area's economy from the prison.

The two-story Vienna facility will have 13 buildings when completed, including one for administration, medical-special housing, three resident buildings, a dietary warehouse, an academic-vocational-multi-purpose building, an industries building, a guardhouse and five guard towers. There will be extensive use of metal roofs and metal wall panels.

It will be built next to the existing minimum-security Vienna Correctional Center, eliminating the need for more land purchases for the facility. And it will use the existing power plant at the Correctional Center to provide heat.

May use federal property sales to cut national debt

The National Debt Retirement Act of 1982 would direct proceeds from the sale of surplus federal property into the general fund of the Treasury to be used to retire the national debt.

"This is a simple and straightforward proposal," Sen. Charles H. Percy, the sponsor, said. "Our trillion-dollar national debt is a national outrage. It serves as a stark reminder of decades of reckless government spending."

"The legislation gives us an opportunity to attack the national debt without reducing funds for new park land, without cutting social programs and without raising taxes."

The Administration has proposed selling $9 billion in surplus property under the jurisdiction of the General Services Administration (GSA) over the next five years.

Under current law, proceeds from the sale of GSA property, along with proceeds from off-shore drilling leases and motorboat fuel taxes, are directed into the Land and Water Conservation Fund to be used to acquire more federal property.

"My bill is aimed at selling the properties we simply do not need—such as unused federal buildings and abandoned military installations—and using the proceeds to offset part of our national debt," Percy said. "It will not change any current laws governing what properties may be sold. Parks, wilderness areas, national forests, and other public domain lands will not be affected."

Under current law, the Land and Water Conservation Fund must receive at least $900 million annually. "That will not change," Percy said. "Proceeds from off-shore drilling leases and motorboat fuel taxes are already greater than that amount."

Last October, Percy called on President Ronald Reagan to estimate the current market value of properties owned by the United States, to identify which of these properties could be sold, and to recommend actions to streamline procedures for selling them.

Since then, the president has established a Federal Property Review Board, issued an executive order implementing a surplus property sales program, and backed the National Debt Retirement Act. Percy introduced his bill last week.

"I'm pleased with the president's prompt action in implementing an asset management program," Sen. Percy said. "It's high time we started running the business of government like a business."

Identical legislation was introduced in the House of Representatives the same day by Cong. Ken Kramer (R-Conn.).

GC Steel, others form group to cut health costs

Granite City Steel is one of 28 firms that are charter members of a new Business Health Coalition.

The organization's stated purpose is to develop and implement cost-effective strategies and programs for containment of health care costs and maintenance of quality health care in the metropolitan area.

Charter members of the coalition, which has been under consideration for about one year, had an organizational meeting a week ago at the Cheshire Inn and Lodge.

They elected officers, agreed to employ an experienced executive director to work with hospital and medical professionals on complex problems related to currently increasing health care costs, and reported the coalition was already involved in a joint project with the medical community to institute a program of peer review of private patient hospital care.

Coalition president is Philip J. Hutchison, corporate director of personnel, Emerson Electric Co.

It is to be resource and action arm for the Civic Progress group's committee on health care costs under the chairmanship of Lee M. Liberman.

Hutchison said the coalition represents the formalization of an informal committee made up of benefit managers and personnel officers of large St. Louis-based companies, major buyers of health care through their employee benefits.

Hutchison said the medical community is in agreement that something must be done to make on the pace at which health care costs have been escalating.

He said the coalition's efforts will augment and support cost containment programs already under way in the physician and hospital community.

Coalition members have been meeting with representatives of the Hospital Association of Metropolitan St. Louis, the St. Louis Metropolitan Medical Society and the St. Louis Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons to develop and implement a private-sector peer review program under contract with the Central Eastern Missouri professional review organization committee, CEMPROC, a private association of 1,800 area physicians.

It is the peer review organization that is already responsible for evaluating the hospital care of Medicare patients in the area.

Peer review is a process by which the quality, necessity, appropriateness of placement, efficiency and other aspects of a patient's care are evaluated by a qualified doctor.

The coalition's objective, Hutchison said, is to eventually make a private-sector peer review program available to all businesses as well as other private organizations which buy hospital care for their employees or members.

The coalition has a 12-member board of directors. The members of the Business Health Coalition have about 120,000 employees in this area.

Is there life after jogging

By VIRGINIA HILL
Illinois State Council on Nutrition

While I'm out riding my bicycle, I see a great many joggers, jaws set, grim determination on their faces. They look on me with great disdain as I ride by them, but I really don't care. I enjoy seeing the scenery and am happy I'm getting some form of exercise.

I never have one twinge of guilt. I even wear my jogging shoes when riding my bike or walking because I've discovered everyone who wears jogging shoes doesn't necessarily jog.

Must we jog to keep fit? Actually, when exercise first became a valid subject for scientific investigation, it wasn't running that was studied. It was walking.

Besides this being the one fitness activity in which most people can participate, it was the area upon which the British investigator, Professor J. N. Morris, focused when he began to look at the link between exercise and heart disease in the early 1950s.

He found that fewer of those who walked after fatal heart attacks as compared with those who remained seated in their jobs. Postmen versus sedentary poison office workers, for instance.

This simple statistical relationship is relatively constant throughout highly developed countries, where being seated is the generally accepted form of working activity.

A study at Stanford University has shown that activity that burns approximately 300 calories a day — the equivalent of a brisk, enjoyable walk for about an hour — results in markedly lower chance for a heart attack, one reason physical fitness and nutrition go hand in hand.

However, there is no way anyone can predict what a given person's absolute chance of developing an illness like heart disease might be.

So the theory was that, if walking is so good, and since it is obviously a safe physical activity, why bother with a more demanding sport?

Some believe that a more strenuous exercise on a regular basis would result in an even greater reduction in risk for a heart attack. Beyond this, it also prepares for major physical and emotional stress which can occur in our lives.

These stresses, sometimes placed a demand on the heart, as well as other organs, and it is good to be prepared for these occasional demands.

Walking provides the proper basis for all activity, but by itself it is not enough to achieve high performance levels.

What if you can't jog? What if there is a reason you shouldn't jog? Not everyone should jog. A physical activity should be valuable to one's health. It should involve as many muscles as possible, and it should be carried out on a regular basis, preferably three times a week for a minimum of 30 minutes in each session.

With these considerations in mind, the sports and activities which offer reasonable alternatives to jogging are cross-country skiing, swimming, speed skating, bicycling, jumping rope, folk dancing, stair climbing, and mountain hiking.

individual. One should be encouraged to exercise, not be intimidated by it.

The activity of choice must be selected with some consideration of its potential for injury. Any aerobic activity too vigorously undertaken by the novice may present danger.

Anyone at risk for heart disease, those who smoke heavily, have high blood pressure, a family history of heart disease early in life, diabetes, or prolonged lack of exercise should check with a physician before starting out.

For some of these persons, an exercise test which measures the capacity of the heart under exercise conditions would be advisable. Ultimately, participation in regular fitness programs is a form of self-care.

Most of us are truly unfit because sedentary life demands so little of us physically. Common occupations that require sitting at a desk all day represent almost no challenge to the heart or any other movement muscles.

So, unfitness is bound to result. To correct the sad state of affairs, the body needs more physical activity.

Since we no longer build our own houses, farm huge fields by walking, forage for food, hunt, or even walk to school, it is necessary to find some kind of recreational alternative.

The recreational alternative should be health promoting, but it should also be fun.

Unfortunately, some physical activities are attacked with a sort of grimmness that makes them unattractive to the average person.

So, I repeat, I enjoy riding my bicycle, I love getting out early in the morning or after dinner at night, and I do this with joy and abandon.

I will continue to do so as I watch the joggers with grim determination on their faces huff and puff as I ride by. I will burn up those extra calories and keep fit with an exercise that is fun and enjoyable to me.

Rain delays tournament; rescheduled for today

The first round of South's Tournament of Champions has been rescheduled for today. At 2 p.m. Collinsville will play Desmet at the Gauntlet. Collinsville, the defending Illinois state champions, currently is ranked third in the coaches' poll and sixth in the writer's poll of the "Chicago Sting High School Newsletter".

At 4 p.m. South will play Indiana Memorial, defending champions in the Hoosier State for the third year. The game also will be at the Gauntlet. South is ranked first in both polls of the newsletter.

The second round games will be played as scheduled. Riverview and Vianney play at 6 p.m. Both teams are highly ranked in Missouri and Vianney is the defending state champions for two years running. Vianney defeated South in the final game of last year's Tournament of Champions.

At eight p.m., McCluer North will take on New Trier, a Chicago area powerhouse. Friday at 3 p.m., winners of the Thursday evening games will play at South and the consolation bracket will move to Benbow Field in Wood River.

At 5 p.m. Friday, winners of the Thursday games will play at South and the consolation bracket will play at Benbow.

Saturday at 3 p.m., the final game in the consolation bracket will be played at South. At 6 p.m., the third place game is scheduled and at 8 p.m. the championship game will take place. All Saturday games will be played at South.

Gene Baker, South soccer coach, said last week that the team is ready for the tournament. The Warriors are, in Baker's opinion, a tournament-oriented team and prepare all season for the possibility of playing in the state tournament.

The Warriors won the Glenbrook North Tournament in September. Baker said the team has set different priorities as the season has progressed. First, the Warriors set sight on the Glenbrook tournament. Once that was accomplished, doing well in the conference was a goal.

"We're pretty much stable now in the Illinois rankings," Baker said. Obviously, the Tournament of Champions is the next priority.

Steelers outshoot, but fall to Collinsville 3-2

By NANCY WEIL
of the Press-Record

It is slightly out of the ordinary for a losing coach to be so pleased, but Bob Kehoe, Granite North soccer coach, could barely contain himself after the Steelers lost 3-2 to Collinsville, the defending state champions, Tuesday evening at North.

He laughed. He joked. He thought, he said, that North played better than they have in a long while. "I was pleased. I thought our effort was just great," he said.

Kehoe's exuberance was even more extraordinary considering that North has lost its last four games, one by a forfeit, and has not won since its 4-0 game against Pattonville. With a 5-8-1 record, the Steelers are having a rough season, the worst, in fact, in the 10-year history of soccer at North High School.

However, Tuesday night showed that the Steelers are as competitive as ever. Down 3-1, North's Tim Dean scored the winning goal at 89:23. That goal brought the Steelers back into the game and they very nearly scored on two more occasions.

North's effort seemed to surprise Collinsville coach Jim Stranz. "They beat us all over to the ball," he said. "It's a matter of intensity. I guess when they want to play, they can play."

Statistically, the Steelers stomped the Kahoks. North had 22 shots on goal to Collinsville's 11. Kahok goalkeeper Steve Giacoleto, a senior who has been filling in for Marc Parker who suffered hemorrhaging to his arm after being kicked, recorded 13 saves. North goalkeeper Rick Branding, once again playing superbly and totaled six saves.

"Branding was super," Kehoe said. He also complemented Giacoleto on two saves made late in the game off shots by Steve Trittschuh and Derek Merz — the two shots that nearly went in.

The one factor that contributed to the Steelers' intensity Tuesday was that they played like a team. It could be anticipated that they would be down mentally after having to forfeit to McCluer North Saturday because they walked off the field against Granite South. "We were a little disappointed about missing the McCluer game," Kehoe said.

The varsity players did, however, travel to St. Louis to watch the junior varsity play. Acting as "cheerleaders" for the jayvees, the varsity team has shown more camaraderie since the South game.

"They felt a certain amount of togetherness after the South game," Kehoe said. "I think they were ready to play (against Collinsville). Kids forget things rather quickly."

While North finished the game with incredible intensity, the first two quarters were much slower. "They started tentatively," Kehoe said.

Collinsville took advantage of the tentativeness and scored at 4:47 when Tony Ellis got the ball past the defense on an assist by Marc Mahat.

At 10:31, the Steelers tied the game when Merz scored on an assist from Brian Levin.

In the second quarter, Collinsville took the lead when Brad VanHoese scored on an assist from Ellis. Branding was screened and had no real chance to stop the shot that dropped into the lower left corner of the net at 20:53.

To put the game further away from North, Ellis scored again on an assist from Randy Hensler at 31:02. Hensler beat the defense to the ball and got it to Ellis, who shot the ball into the top right corner.

Being down 3-1 at the half certainly was not a promising situation for the Steelers. But instead of accepting defeat, they rose to the occasion and played perhaps their best game all season.

North's offense relentlessly pressured the Collinsville defense. The Kahok's Tim Foley blocked a hard shot that came out of a cluster in front of the goal. From Foley the ball went to Giacoleto who stopped it. North finished the third quarter with an indirect kick.

North continued to wear down Collinsville's defense through the fourth quarter until Dean scored. He took the ball, from the right side of the

With time running out, North controlled and took four successive corner kicks, all of which were sent into the area. Merz headed one corner, from Dave Sheik, over the goal. Again Sheik took a corner and sent the ball into the area to Trittschuh, but Giacoleto made the save.

"They played a very spirited game," Stranz said. "North has some very good players."

Kehoe agreed that the game was spirited and added, "It was the attitude the players took on. It was one of the few times this year, they played like they wanted to win."

"It was a very enjoyable game, which may sound strange coming from the losing coach."

Strange, perhaps, but entirely appropriate. North will host Edwardsville Saturday at 10 a.m.

Warriors are still first in writers', coaches' poll

The Granite City South soccer team again has been ranked first in the coaches and writers' polls of the "Chicago Sting High School Newsletter." The Warriors received 138 points in the coaches' poll and 90 points in the writer's poll. Granite City North received honorable mention in the writer's poll.

While both South and North have received recognition in the newsletter, a relative newcomer in high school soccer also has caught the attention of the publication's staff this week. Madison High School goalkeeper LeRoy Pryor was mentioned in the "Goalie Greats" section of the newsletter for his outstanding play in the game against Lebanon High School which the Trojans won 2-0.

South goalkeeper, Jeb Blasingame, received two mentions in that section for the Warriors' 5-0 win over Belleville Althoff and the team's 3-0 win against Quincy Senior. Blasingame also received a "special mention" for having recorded 10 shutouts at the time the newsletter was published.

Two other local goalkeepers were honored. Matt Mermino, of Alton High School, was mentioned for the game against North which Alton won, 1-0. Steve Giacoleto of Collinsville was honored for play against Alton in a game the Kahoks won 2-0.

South and Collinsville are the only two local teams named in the top 15. The Kahoks are ranked third in the coaches' poll and sixth in the writer's poll.

North was second behind St. Charles High School in the honorable mention category of the writer's poll. Alton Marquette and Alton High School both received honorable mentions in that poll.

Alton also received honorable mention in the coaches' poll. This week's newsletter top 15 polls:

IHSA golf regional begins today

Post season golf action began this morning as both the Granite City North and Granite City South golf teams compete in the Belleville West golf regional at Clinton Hills Golf Course in Fairview Heights. Play began at 10 a.m.

The Steelers and the Warriors join Belleville East, Belleville West, Althoff, Collinsville, East St. Louis (Lincoln), East St. Louis Sr., Edwardsville, O'Fallon and Triad at the regional.

According to Illinois State High School Association guidelines, the top three teams and the top five golfers not on those three teams, will qualify to compete in the Granite City North Sectional to be played Tuesday, Oct. 12, at Arlington Golf Course.

In addition to those teams competing in the North Sectional from the Belleville East Regional, a similar number of athletes from each of three other regionals will compete in the North Sectional. Those other regionals include the Decatur (Stephen Decatur) Regional, the Jacksonville Regional and the Mt. Vernon Regional. An estimated 100 golfers are expected to survive to regionals and compete in the North Sectional.

The Belleville East Regional is one of 24 AA regionals statewide. The North Sectional is one of six sectionals statewide in preparation for the State Golf Finals on Oct. 15 and 16 at Kellogg Golf Course in Peoria. The AA state final this year will be hosted by Peoria Marquette.

The Warriors finished the regular season with a loss to Mascoutah Monday. The Warriors finished 10 strokes behind the Indians who finished the day with a team score of 171.

Monday afternoon, the Steelers finished their regular season as O'Fallon defeated the Steelers by eight strokes, posting a 157. The Steelers close the season with a 5-15 season record.

GC resident resurrects 'Wild Bill' Hallahan's World Series jersey

By AL BARNES

For the Press-Record
Jerome (Punch) Juda, a man who has made Christmas a pure joy for literally thousands of children in the St. Louis metropolitan area by filling (subbing) in for Santa Claus these past 50 years, was one of the best athletes ever produced in the southwest part of Illinois.

An outstanding baseball player for the old Collinsville Red & Whites back around 1930 and thereafter, he played first base and outfield for that club which was always a contender for Illinois Inter-City League crowns.

In addition to his talents on the baseball diamond, Juda, now retired from the Shell Oil Refinery at Wood River for the past nine years, was also a better-than-average wrestler while in the Army's Citizens Military Training School at Jefferson Barracks from 1927 through 1930 in the 190-pound division.

After that, Punch enlisted in the Civilian Conservation Corps (C.C.C.) and was shipped to California to plant trees and learn the ins and outs of forestry. After that, he returned to the St. Louis area and went to work for the Chevrolet plant out on Natural Bridge and Union where he stayed until looming war clouds forced the United States to open the Small Arms plant just down the way at Goodfellow. During the war years, he was charged with the instructing of approximately 750 guards at the plant in the military arts, etc.

In 1946, Juda went to work at Shell — and, when the folks there needed someone to "play Santa Claus," it was Punch who volunteered. And, thus he began a career which almost overshadowed his great love for sports — and particularly baseball.

Just recently, with the Cardinals putting on the all-out drive toward capturing of the Eastern Division championship of the National League, Juda recalled a bit of baseball memorabilia he owns concerning a former Cardinal pitcher who had helped the Red Birds to at least two championships, one William Anthony (Wild Bill) Hallahan — a clever and hard-throwing southpaw.

Hallahan, who had come up briefly with the Cardinals in 1925, played for the Red Birds through part of 1936 when he was traded to the Cincinnati Reds and finally bowed out of baseball in 1938 as a member of the Phillies.

How did Hallahan's career touch that of Punch Juda?

It was simply that around those days, late twenties and early thirties, the major league teams used to sell or donate their old game uniforms to semi-pro teams in their area. So, Hallahan's uniform was in the batch which ended up in Collinsville and, in due time, on Juda's slender but tall and lean frame.

The trouble is, he or I can't definitely pinpoint the exact time or period of the uniform. This, of course, forced me and him to do some detective work. First, I called Dick Kaegel and Ben Henkey, two fellows, who incidentally, began their sports writing careers on the staff of the Press-Record, but who are now real cogs on the Sporting News. Kaegel as editor and Henkey as his assistant.

The problem was: what year was Hallahan's uniform for — 1926, 1928 or 1930 — three of the first years that the Cardinals won World Series championships.

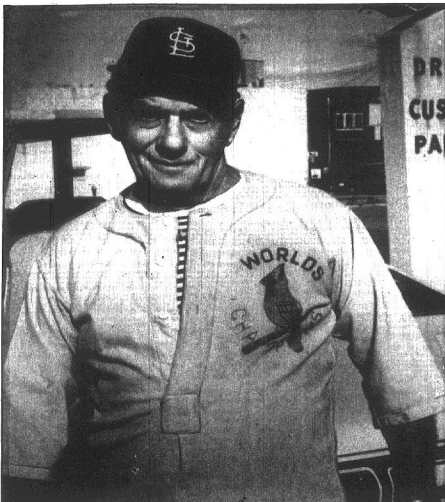

Juda thought, at first, that it was 1928's title but worn in 1927. Wild Bill was a brief member of that '28 championship squad, but never came up to the club in 1927. And, neither was he on the 1928 Red Birds' squad who were almost totally destroyed by Babe Ruth and the Yankees in four straight in 1928.

The question then was: was the uniforms for the 1926 crown or the World Series championship that the Cards won over the Athletics of Philadelphia in 1927?

It's my guess that the uniform was a brief member of that '26 championship squad, but never came up to the club in 1926. And, neither was he on the 1926 Red Birds' squad who were almost totally destroyed by Babe Ruth and the Yankees in four straight in 1926.

I lean toward the 1931 season. Why, you ask? Simple.

It just so happened that I saw one of the World Series games in 1930. I was attending college at Lincoln, Ill., and the entire student body took a "field trip" to St. Louis on the old Illinois Interurban (electric) train at a time coinciding with the series. The kids were Jerome Juda in his world series jersey, and as Santa Claus.

ree to go where they wanted to, such as the Art Museum and Lindbergh airport, and, of course, a matinee at the fabulous Fox Theater, now much in the news.

So, I talked one of my buddies from Lincoln College into attending the World Series game against Connie Mack's A's in the opening game at the old Sportsman's Park on north Grand Avenue. My buddy turned me down because "he didn't have the money to buy the tickets." That wasn't a problem for me; I had decided to "crash" the gate, which I did and saw the exciting Pepper Martin, the Wild Horse of the Osage, run the Athletics wild on the basepaths as he and his mates almost literally "stole" the World's championship crown from Philadelphia. Key performer on the pitching mound for the Cards was, of course, lefty Wild Bill. Hallahan posted a 102-94 mound record his 13th season in the majors.

Now, retired, Mister Juda is still very active: he's a commissioner of the Granite City Housing Authority, and travels a great deal in the activities of the Airstream Association of central Missouri and is a director of many mid-west hog-calling contests and fish-casting tournaments.

Venice volleyballers fall to E. St. Louis Sr.

The Venice girls' volleyball team got a lesson in intimidation last night when they visited East St. Louis Senior High and lost 15-4 and 15-3. The intimidation was certainly justified.

East St. Louis has "one super spiker on the team. She's at least 6-1. She was hitting spikes that bounced outside the spike line," said Ken Perkins, Venice coach.

But the Red Devils regained their composure and played well the second game. Jackie Chaitman, a front line spiker, played particularly well against East St. Louis in both games.

Monday evening, Venice hosted Marquette and lost 15-8 and 15-4. But the two recent losses still cannot overshadow the Red Devils' first championship finish in the Illinois Gateway Conference volleyball tournament at Venice. The girls defeated St. Paul (Highland) 15-4, 8-15 and 15-9 in the final match.

"They didn't do a very good job of setting and spiking in the second game. It was an extremely tall team, Perkins said.

"They didn't play offense, they played defense," St. Paul, however, played well on offense.

The big win in the first game was due to Venice's exceptional serving. "We served extremely well," Perkins said. The Red Devils had a 5-0 advantage before St. Paul managed to score.

Perkins was very pleased with the tournament championship. "We've been playing good ball. I'm pleased to be playing 500 ball with this team," he said. Venice now is 6-4 with a team of only two seniors. Two juniors and two sophomores complete the team.

Venice will travel to St. Paul Highland for a 6:30 p.m. match.

Cougar harriers, McQuaide hit stride

EDWARDSVILLE — It's beginning to look like the cross country Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville have hit their stride. Two weeks ago, in the 15-team SIUE-TAC Classic, the Cougars collected sixth-place honors, while last Saturday, they grabbed their first championship of the season by outrunning the four-team field at the Principia College Invitational meet in Elmhurst.

The Cougars, who captured four of the top seven places, posted a team-low 29 points to finish far in front of the runners-up from Washington University, who posted 51 points. Principia College, despite having the individual champion, finished third with 56 points, while St. Louis University rounded out the field with 60 points.

Warrior Boosters to meet

The monthly meeting of the Granite City High School South Boosters will meet Tuesday, Oct. 12, at 7:30 p.m. in that school's cafeteria. All guests are welcome.

The evening's program will include a presentation by Greg Patton, assistant athletic director and health teacher at South, on the importance of good nutrition.

The new Granite City South Booster Club officers for 1982-83 are Boyd Presley, president, William Cathey and Candy Carden, vice presidents, Betty Grote, secretary, and treasurer Carolyn Menendez.

For the second time in as many weeks, Randy Kane, the junior from Marissa, set the pace for SIUE as he covered the hilly five-mile course in 27:13, just nine seconds off Steward Jenkins' championship time. Bill Wasson, a senior from Glasgow who turned in his best performance of the season, took third place honors by covering the course in an impressive 28:30. Kelly Egger, a senior from Monmouth, gave the Cougars three of the top four finishers in the 34-runner event as his fourth-place time of 28:36 sent the Cougars on their way to their first championship of the season.

Freshman Joe Crouch of Trenton continued the Cougars' torrid pace as he crossed the finish line seventh overall with a time of 29:07. Another freshman, Jim McQuaide, a product of Granite City High School South, completed the scoring for SIUE as he finished 13th with a 29:28. The Cougars' final runner, freshman Kevin Grammer, finished 20th overall as he posted a 30:55.

The Cougars may be peaking at the right time as they return to action Saturday (Oct. 9) when they travel to Bloomington, Ind. to compete in the prestigious Indiana University 10,000 meter classic. Gun time is set for 11 a.m.

North spikers defeat Bulldogs, Tigers

GRANITE CITY — Granite City North's Steeler volleyball team picked up a pair of victories this week as they defeated Highland Tuesday and Edwardsville Monday.

The Lady Stealers' first victory of week, against the Tigers, started on a positive note as North clobbered the Tigers 15-4.

The Tigers, however, retaliated in the second game to edge the Stealers 15-13 to send the series into a third game.

In the rubber game of the series, the Stealers devastated Edwardsville 15-3 for their seventh victory of the season.

Tuesday evening, against Highland, the Stealers defeated the Bulldogs in the second and third games to secure the team victory.

In the first game, Highland's spikers proved fatal to the Steeler cause as they defeated North 15-4.

In the first game, North attempted 10 spikes. In contrast to that first game, the Stealers successfully spiked the ball 17 times into Highland's defense in the third game.

Steeler coach Paula Wise attributed the North's second and third game victories to the improved Steeler offense, and in particular the effort of North's spikers.

"We played a total of five spikes in those games," Wise said. "They really played well."

Those spikers Wise mentioned are Trish

Atkinson, Debbie Brandt, Lisa Lilley, Tammy Evans and Trina Davis.

With the assistance of those spikers, North defeated Highland in the second game 15-14 and 15-5 in the third game.

The victories boost the Steeler spiker record to an even 8-8.

Incidentally, with their eight win of the season, the Stealers have won more games this year than they have in any prior season.

There are still five games remaining.

This evening, the Stealers travel to Belleville West to take on the Maroons. Action begins at 6:30 p.m.

The Stealers' next home game is against Althoff on Tuesday, Oct. 19.

Robertson wins; North defeats Maroons

By WAYNE ROTSCH of the Press-Record
GRANITE CITY — Jim Robertson and Ken Meyer finished first and third, respectively, to lead the Granite City North boys' varsity cross country team to a 24-28 victory over a tough Belleville West team on their home course Monday.

"I am quite pleased with their performance," Steeler coach Pete Robertson said. "Belleville West has three real good runners but Robertson won easily."

And Meyer split up the team by beating their second and third runners. "I'm really pleased with the way Meyer is progressing," Robertson said.

The young Steeler girls' team didn't fair as well against the more experienced West squad, losing 15-49.

In fact, West's girls took the first five places. North's Paula Rozycki finished sixth.

However, the sophomore and freshman boys' teams won handily, according to Robertson.

He was especially proud of his varsity boys' because, "Belleville is annually one of the better teams in the area."

"We ran well up and down the line," he said, which is important in a close match like this. The sixth and seventh runners on the squad can win or lose the match for you, according to Robertson. He explained that the better you're whole team performs will have an effect on the finishing places of the other teams runners.

His girls' squad consists only of freshman and sophomores so he understands their having trouble with stronger and more mature competition.

"I just hope they don't get discouraged," Robertson said. He feels he has the nucleus of a very good team.

"But it's harder to keep girls on the team. Athletics don't seem to hold the same magnetism that draws boys to sports."

Cougar netters compete in Clemson U. Classic

EDWARDSVILLE — It will be like playing in a "Who's Who" of college tennis this weekend as the men's tennis team from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville heads to Clemson, S.C. Friday to compete in the eight-team National University Classic.

The Cougars, who have won the NCAA Division II national championship each of the past five years, will take on several of the best Division II teams in the country, including fourth-ranked University of Georgia, and Clemson, which last year finished seventh in the NCAA-I National Tournament. Also in this year's field will be teams from the University of Florida, the University of South Carolina, Furman University, the University of Illinois and North Carolina State University.

The tournament will be divided into flights — six flights of singles and three flights of doubles teams per school. Expected to represent the Cougars in the singles competition will be two-time NCAA-II champion Ken Plach, sophomore All-American Robert Seguso,

Greater Granite Grind slated

The Tri-City Area YMCA has announced plans for the fourth annual Greater Granite Grind, a 10,000-meter and a two-mile run, to be held on Saturday, Oct. 23.

The two-mile run will begin at 8 a.m. and the 10,000-meter run will begin at 9 a.m.

The course will be flat, clearly marked, with accurate splits at the half-way mark for both runs. The run will start and finish at the same place.

For more information, call the Tri-City Area YMCA, Granite City, at 676-7200.

Steeler netters fall to Knights 6-1

GRANITE CITY — It's been a tough year for the Granite City North team. Monday afternoon things weren't any different as the Lady Stealers dropped their ninth match of the season to visiting Triad 1-6.

Things didn't go well for North from the beginning. In the first singles match, North's Angela Pinkston lost to Lisa Schuito in straight sets 6-0, 6-0.

In second singles competition, Triad's Kathy Schuito shut out Beth Suss by an identical score.

North's Dawn Schwartz fared somewhat better against Patty Schuito in the third singles match, but still fell to the third of the Schuito sisters 1-6, 0-6. A Triad victory in the fourth singles match secured a Knight team victory. Even if North won the three remaining doubles matches, the Stealers would still come up short of Triad's total.

In that fourth singles match, freshman Marcia Williams was defeated by Triad's Lisa Linenfelder in two sets, 6-0, 3-6.

The Lady Stealers picked up their only victory of the afternoon in the second doubles match as Sherri Ousley and Tracy Hadley teamed to defeat Kathy Schuito and Pam Schuegger 7-5, 6-4. North lost the two other doubles matches.

In first doubles, North's Pinkston and Suss fell to the Knight's Patty Schuito and Linenfelder in straight sets 6-0, 6-1. In the final match, the third doubles duel, the Knights Kelly Edwards and Sherri Wilkerson defeated North's Sandra Sunderlik and Kim Smith in straight sets 6-3, 6-2.

As mentioned, the loss drops the Lady Stealers' record to 2-9 on the season.

"The first of Stealers' wins this season came against Bethalto on Sept. 9 as they won 4-3. North's second victory of the season came against cross-town rival Granite City South on Sept. 20. The Stealers won that pairing by an identical score of 4-3.

Despite the losses, North's coach Larry Lips is optimistic.

"Basically, we're a young team and for the most part we'll be a young team even next year," Lips said. "But, the girls have indicated that they're willing to work this winter at Cottonwood, (Racquet Club Glen Carbon) so I'm encouraged," Lips said.

North's team has three seniors in Smith, Sunderlik and Hadley. The rest of the team members are sophomores and freshmen.

This Tuesday, the Stealers will take on the Warriors for the final time this season at 4 p.m. The match is at South.

Maroons foil Warrior volleyballers

GRANITE CITY — Momentum. Those athletes who have it are usually victors.

"This match tonight was decided on momentum," said Wilma Schulze, South's coach afterwards. "There's no sport like volleyball where momentum is more important," Schulze said.

Momentum favored the Granite City South Warrior volleyball team once in three games Tuesday. Consequently, the Lady Warriors lost the best of three games contest to Belleville West in an ebb and flow match at South's gymnasium.

The Warrior spikers have not defeated the Maroons since 1977.

Belleville defeated the Lady Warriors in the first game 15-11. But, the Warriors came back in the second game to defeat West 15-8. The Warrior victory exemplified how important momentum is in volleyball.

Much of the Warrior momentum came on the serving ability of Warrior Vicki Smith. In that second game, while Smith was serving the Warriors established a lead they never relinquished.

Although the victory was a team effort, in addition to Smith's efforts, Trish Skinner, Gina Graham and Allison Boyd paced the Warriors to victory in that second game.

Belleville, however, reciprocated the Warrior victory in the third game to defeat the Warriors by the same score: 15-18.

The victory boosted Belleville's record to 13-4, while South fell to 4-7 on the season.

Tonight, the Warriors take on Wood River in Wood River. Action begins at 6 p.m.

Women Cougar netters host Vita Invitational

EDWARDSVILLE — One of the top women's collegiate tennis tournaments of the fall season comes to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Friday as the host Cougars kick off the Second Annual Vita Invitational. A two-day, eight-team competition, this year's Vita field includes teams from Drake University, SIU at Carbondale, the University of Illinois, Illinois State University, the University of Minnesota, Oral Roberts University, the University of Louisville and SIUE. Action is scheduled to get underway Friday at 9 a.m., and the championship match of the singles competition is set for Saturday at 11 a.m., and the doubles championship is slated for 2 p.m. Saturday.

Like last year's initial Vita Tournament, this year's match will be divided into flights. Each team will post six singles players and three doubles teams to compete for the team championship.

All matches are scheduled on the SIUE varsity courts, but should weather become a problem, the tournament will be moved to the Cottonwood Sports Center.

The Cougars are expecting to line up with number one singles player Joan Mahon-Finder leading the way. The senior from Berwyn became the second person in the 67-year history of the Dorothy McClure Tournament to win three consecutive titles last weekend and is off to an outstanding start in the 1983 season.

In the second singles position will be either Laurie Foederer, a sophomore from Highland, or Patty Tiddy, a sophomore from Collinsville. Jan Petras, a sophomore from Ontario, Canada who is off to a fast start this year, should anchor down the fourth singles spot, while Monica Bridle, a freshman from Quincy who made her collegiate debut by winning four of her first five matches, will play in the number five position. Leah Schmidt, a sophomore from Belleville, is expected to round out the singles lineup for SIUE.

The SIUE doubles lineup is expected to be Finder and Petras at number one, Tiddy and Foederer at number two, and Bridle and Schmidt in the number three position.

State lapse expenditures set record

Charge men with home invasion

The available balance in the state's general funds on Sept. 30 was $88 million, the lowest end-of-September balance since 1975 ($39 million), Comptroller Roland W. Burris reported this week.

Last Thursday also marked the end of the "lapse period" — the deadline by which all of fiscal 1982's unpaid bills must be presented for payment to the comptroller's office. Lapse period spending as of Sept. 30 was $495 million, highest in history; the previous high was $390 million expended in the fiscal 1980 lapse period.

The comptroller said total general revenues in the first three months or first quarter of fiscal 1983 were $1,993 billion, $100 million or 8.7 percent higher than the same period last year. But over $74 million or nearly half of that increase was the result of increased transfers from other state funds into the general funds.

Total general spending for the quarter was $2,082 billion, $170 million or 8.9 percent higher than the first three months of the last fiscal year.

Under the governor's new authority to borrow from various state earmarked funds, the amounts transferred during the first quarter totaled $24,500,000, of which $10 million has since been repaid, to the road fund.

RESALE OF HOMES SHOWS SHARP DROP

The housing resale market in August dipped to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 1,700,000 units, a 6.3 percent drop from July and the lowest level yet in the current housing cycle which began in November 1978.

Dr. Jack Carlson, chief economist and executive vice-president of the National Association of Realtors, said, "The August sales pace was 20 percent below a year earlier and represents the lowest level of sales activity since the 1969-70 housing slump. The current housing depression is by far the longest and deepest since the 1930s; during the past 46 months, resale activity has plunged 56 percent."

FISHING GEAR TAKEN

Three fishing rod and reel sets and a tackle box, valued at a total of $150, were stolen this week from the parked pickup truck of Steve Stout, 2105 Lee, near 21st Street and Grand Avenue.

taken into custody about 1:30 a.m. Sunday in the 2900 block of Nameeki Road and were charged in informational documents issued by the Madison County state's attorney's office.

In an appearance at 3:15 p.m. Monday at the Granite City court, both Sloan and Bladdick pleaded innocent to the charges. Mittimus were issued and both were transferred Tuesday morning to the Madison County Jail at Edwardsville.

Bladdick also was linked to an incident on the Sacred Heart School grounds, occurring at 8 p.m. Saturday, and was charged additionally with disorderly conduct.

Sloan and Bladdick, accompanied by a third person, allegedly entered the home of William Woodson and beat and choked the man, taking money and keys from his pocket. Neighbors called police and a description of the two men was broadcast.

At 1:50 a.m. Sunday, a woman and two men matching the description allegedly were involved in a disturbance at Eddie's Lounge, 2900 Nameeki Road. They already had left when officers arrived, but Bladdick, Sloan and Karen J. Henkels, 21, of 4701 Kirkpatrick Homes, were found walking a short distance from the tavern and were arrested.

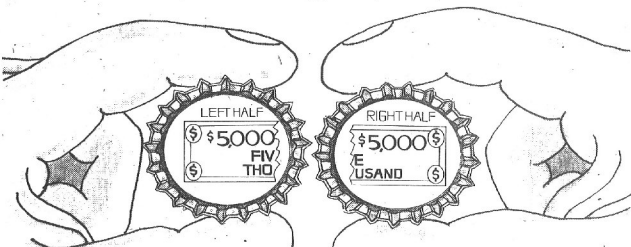

Mrs. Henkels initially was released, but then was arrested at her home at 5:10 a.m. Sunday on an outstanding warrant alleging disorderly conduct. She was released on notice to appear in court.

UW reaches 17.7 percent of goal

At the first report meeting of the 1982 United Way campaign Friday afternoon, a total of $10,814 or 17.7 percent of the $625,000 goal was announced.

Roger Higgins, campaign chairman, greeted the gathering and introduced Mrs. Gail Miller and the Granite City High School North advanced mixed chorus, which performed.

Steve Hunter, reporting for Group "B" (professionals) vice chairman Paul Raczewicz, announced that the group had reached 45.2 percent of its goal, or $23,507. This was the highest percentage attained by any of the five groups at the first report meeting.

Following closely was Group "A" (private donors), chaired by Shirley Adams. She reported $4,000 received to date, representing 41.7 percent of the $9,600 goal for that group.

Art Menendez, vice chairman of Group "C" (management) reported that his group has collected $1,644 in pledges to date. This is 4.5 percent of the $36,300 goal. He said that the three school districts have yet to report their individual amounts, which represent the majority of this year's goal.

Group "D" (business and retail accounts) vice chairman Bob Glik reported collections to date totaling $11,028, or 16.3 percent of the group's $67,800 goal for the campaign.

Darryl Slater, vice chairman of Group "E" (industry), which represents more than 73 percent of the total 1982 campaign goal, reported a total to date of $76,635, or 15.4 percent of the $500,000 goal.

"The $110,814 total, thus far, is more than $44,000 more than the total to date of Oct. 2, 1981, during last year's campaign," Higgins pointed out to the group.

Higgins challenged each of the group vice chairmen and their solicitors to attain 50 percent of the campaign total by the next report meeting, scheduled for Friday, Oct. 15, at the Granite City Army Installation.

Given special recognition were five volunteer solicitors, one from each group. Outstanding service awards were presented to Barbara Barr, Maxine Hawkins, Joe Miklovic, Jack Dempsey and Wilmer Stinson. These awards will be presented to five outstanding volunteers at each report meeting.

A SPECIAL THANKS. Five solicitors, one from each division of the 1982 United Way campaign, were presented with this "outstanding service award" for exceptional volunteer work during the past two weeks. Honored at the Friday report meeting of the campaign were Barbara Barr (Div. A); Maxine Hawkins (B); Joe Miklovic (C); Jack Dempsey (D) and Wilmer Stinson (E).

Alpha Center dance, recognition Oct. 15

The Knights of Columbus Hall, 21st Street and Edison Avenue, will be the site for the Alpha Center for Women's annual fall fundraising dance on Oct. 15.

Music for the dance will be provided by Vince's Internationals from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. The public is invited.

The ticket donation is $15 per couple or $7.50 for a single ticket. The donations include beverages, set-ups and popcorn.

This year, more than 40 volunteers serving the center will be honored for their time and efforts.

Alpha Center, 2104 Cleveland Blvd., a home for pregnant women in need, is operated by volunteers and a paid housemother. The center provides shelter, while striving to meet the women's social, economic and psychological needs.

Volunteers are utilized in various capacities, such as providing transportation, teaching crafts or skills, clerical work, performing maintenance and repair work.

Anyone interested in knowing more about the center for a specific volunteer job or a community project may call 8976-2030. Information on the dance tickets can be obtained by calling that number.

Tickets also will be sold at the door.

Alleges watch gone from bike

Fred Sloan, 19, of 4608 Kirkpatrick Homes, was arrested at an address near there at 8 p.m. Monday and was charged with theft under $500.

The charge stemmed from a weekend incident when a 15-year-old Granite City youth told police that while he was playing soccer on the Sacred Heart School grounds, two men came up to the playing field and one started riding his bicycle without permission. When the man, allegedly Sloan, eventually put the machine down, the youth reported his watch, which had been on the handlebars, was missing.

An officer went to an address, where Sloan was thought to be living, but he fled from a rear yard when the squad car approached. A resident at the dwelling said Sloan lived in Kirkpatrick Homes. He was seen in that area later and was arrested.

The second man at the playing field, allegedly identified as Jerry D. Bladdick, 20, of 3112 Kirkpatrick Homes, was charged with disorderly conduct when arrested later in connection with another case.

ALLEGED TRESPASS

The second time officers went to the address of Sharon Nishke, 2154 Lee Ave., at 12:30 a.m. Tuesday, they arrested Jerry Nishke, 36, of Granite City, on a charge of criminal trespass to property. At the time of the first call, made to police at 12:15 a.m., Nishke reportedly ran from the dwelling when officers arrived.

Cost cutting measures undertaken by Ill. Power

Additional layoffs, construction deferrals, salary freezes and plant closings have been undertaken by Illinois Power Company to cut its operating expenses by millions of dollars, the Illinois Commerce Commission has been told.

Larry D. Haab, vice president and treasurer of Illinois Power Company, presented rebuttal testimony on the company's continued cutback effort.

A Cost Reduction Task Force, which annually reviews the company's operations, recently recommended ways to cut about $29 million from 1983 expenditures. This is in addition to the $50 million the task force eliminated from the company's 1982 budget.

The task force was formed several years ago to reduce and defer costs in an effort to delay the need for additional rate increases.

Of the latest cutbacks, $4.8 million is due to operation and maintenance expenditures. They are:

- Reduction of 58 positions (seven percent) in the company's headquarters staff, saving $1.4 million.
- Reduction of an additional 30 positions in the service areas, saving $800,000. Since 1979, there has been a 12 percent reduction — or 299 equivalent positions — of both Illinois Power operating personnel and contractor personnel.

- Reduction of 14 positions in the company's power plants, saving some $600,000.
- Canceling the hiring of 15 graduating engineers in 1983, with an expected savings of $200,000.

—Retiring small power plants at Jacksonville and Bloomington. The elimination of three jobs and other miscellaneous savings will amount to $100,000.

—Deferral of pay increases for salaried personnel for at least six months, resulting in a savings of $1.8 million in 1983.

The items cut in the 1983 construction expenditures totaling $24 million are:

- Reduction of non-Clinton Power Station construction budget to $80 million, a reduction of $20.4 million.
- Elimination of purchasing new office equipment ($300,000).

—Reduced expenditures of $3.2 million involving several Clinton Power Station related activities, such as reduction and deferral of operation and start-up costs, deferral of pay increases for salaried personnel of Baldwin Associates for at least six months, deferral of road maintenance and construction expenditures for the Clinton Lake and recreation area.

Haab said the work of the task force is an ongoing effort with no deadline or stated termination date. Although the task force identified a total reduction in expenditures of $36 million, $7 million of that amount was not presented in last week's testimony, since it did not impact the test year in the present rate proceeding.

Dave Brubeck concert at Our Lady of Snows

Dave Brubeck, renowned jazzman and composer, will perform a free concert at the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows, Sunday, Oct. 17. The concert, featuring the Dave Brubeck Quartet, will begin at 3 p.m. with an hour-long jazz set and will highlight Brubeck's highly acclaimed composition, "The Gates of Justice."

Joining the quartet for the performance will be the 60-voice Masterworks Choral under the direction of Dennis Sparger and the Performing Arts Training Center Dance Company under the direction of Katherine Dunham. Brubeck composed "The Gates of Justice" amid the political and social struggles of the American Civil Rights movement of the 1960s. The work is based on Old Testament texts and the writings of Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.

The religious order that operates the Shrine in Belleville, the Missionary Oblates of Mary Immaculate, are hosting the free concert to commemorate the 20th anniversary of the birth of Eugene de Mazenod, their founder.

For more information, contact Paul Dussault at the Missionary Association of Mary Immaculate, (618) 233-2238.

B. J. Davis to be honored

B. J. Davis, Superintendent of the Granite City School District, will be the first educator to be honored by the Lewis and Clark Reading Council for outstanding contributions in promoting reading.

The certificate of honor will be presented at the annual fall banquet Oct. 20, at the Lewis and Clark Restaurant in Alton.

The Lewis and Clark Reading Council is an affiliate of the International

Reading Association, and represents the four Illinois counties of Madison, St. Clair, Macoupin and Jersey. The theme chosen by the association for the 1982-83 school year is "Celebrate Literacy." Educators around the world are being selected for recognition. Davis will be recognized for his contribution and support of the Independent Reading Program in the Granite City School District, according to the announcement.

Grant to upgrade Venice boat ramp

The city of Venice has been awarded a $60,000 Boat Access Area Grant by the Illinois Department of Conservation, State Sen. Sam Vadalabene (D-Roseville) and State Rep. Sam Wolf (D-Granite City) have announced.

The approved project will include improvements to the existing Venice boat access area, parking area, access road and launching ramp. The grant will pay 100 percent of the cost of the project.

The grants are funded through the State Boating Act Fund, according to Vadalabene and Wolf.
